Japanese Forces Bombard Shanghai; America and Powers Propose Truce

Today

War It Is.
The Big Provocation.
What Would Happen.
A Pleasant Egg Farm.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 2.

THE NEWS IS all war. Nanking is bombarded by a Japanese warship. Italy joins the United States in "protesting" to Japan.

Britain had joined in the protest already. Tokio receives the protests and goes ahead with her plans, and activities, calmly.

UNCLE SAM is in the front line of protest and activity. In addition to ships and men, already sent, the American fleet has now been started on its way from Manila to Shanghai. This reminds Americans that, since we must interfere in Asia's wars, it would be silly to abandon the Philippines, where ships and airplanes can be kept within striking distance.

Our greatest folly was the agreement not to fortify Guam. That was done at the Washington conference, when the late Balfour did our thinking for us.

JAPAN REJECTS the plan to establish a neutral zone in Shanghai, or anywhere else in China.

"This is Asia, we are Asiatics, if you do not like our fighting here, go home," seems to express Japan's idea.

It is plain that Europe and America claim, and plan to maintain, the right to regulate Asia's fighting. The French consul general at Shanghai announces that a battalion of French infantry will soon arrive, bringing the French forces up to five thousand men.

"PROVOCATIONS" ARE plentiful. In Harbin the Japanese express office is blown up, thirty-four Japanese killed. Yesterday a Japanese destroyer sprayed the American Texaco oil plant with machine gun fire. It was explained that exploding firecrackers near the oil plant were mistaken for Chinese forces, shooting. To explode firecrackers would seem to be superfluous in Shanghai now.

In reply to British protests against havoc caused by heavy Japanese bombs in Shanghai, Japan has promised to use smaller bombs, which recalls a comic opera song, "Shoot Him Gently, Oh, So Gently."

A BRITISH cruiser brought marines to the European settlement yesterday, and half way around the world, in Wall street, "the market was buoyant," the stocks of the DuPont company, which makes powder, and the United Aircraft Company, that makes flying machines, was very active.

THE WAR is here, and the question is, when will the BIG provocation come? When will something happen to drag in one or more of the western nations and make a real war of it, with fighting on both sides?

Now the Japanese are fighting and the Chinese saying "Ouch!" It is a one-sided war. Big Russia, with her five-year plan No. 2 in hand, evidently means to keep out of active participation.

But suppose some patriotic Chinese, borrowing from a European saying, "The end justifies the means," should torpedo or otherwise destroy an American or Italian fighting ship. How quickly the Japanese would be accused. It would cease to be an Asiatic war only.

THE EXTRAORDINARY fact is that war forced on us, or too hastily and willingly entered into, might actually do what all our wise men have been unable to do, and start a boom.

Already wheat, cotton, silver, copper, show signs of upward climbing. Until the time came to pay the bill, as we are now paying the bill of 1914, we might imagine ourselves back in prosperity.

AT PRESENT, while we are still out of war, it is wise to see both sides. We tell Japan what she may or may not do, in Asia, because western nations have their settlements in Shanghai.

Japan has her settlements here. Suppose we had a war, and Japan sent battleships and marines to New York or San Francisco harbor to "protect her nationals," what should we say.

Recently Italy sent forces against Greece, because of injury to Italian officials, and collected $10,000,000 damages from Greece. The League of Nations protested, but Greece paid.

IT IS SAID:

"This country would not tolerate another war. The big war is too close to us."

That is inaccurate. Flags would fly, drums would beat, propaganda would spread, race hatreds would be invoked, "Right or wrong, my country" would be printed in biggest type. And within a week he who today might safely protest against war would be called a traitor unless he expressed a desire to wipe out the life of every Asiatic.

Things happen quickly, or as the French put it, Un malheur est vite arrive.

We might not be asked to deprive our own children of bread or sugar, in order to feed the little Mongolians, Thibetans or Koreans, but it would be much the same old war.

SUNDAY YOU MIGHT have seen dozens of American fighting ships in Los Angeles and San Diego harbors, steam up, smoke pouring out, scores of small boats darting to shore and back. The battleships, you were told, had on board provisions for one year.

What would happen to those ships if we sent them to meet

FEAR FOR 18 ON MISSING PLANES

3 Mail Fliers, 2 Army Men Lost; Hunt for 13 on Two Air Liners Futile

Associated Press.

Three men who fly the night air mail and two Army fliers were missing today and it was feared 13 persons had met disaster aboard two air liners lost on opposite sides of the continent.

The burned wreckage of an air mail plane bound from Oakland, Cal., to Salt Lake City was reported sighted near Rio Vista, Cal. The fate of John W. Sharpnack, veteran pilot, had not been learned.

George T. Douglass, flying the night mail from Boise, Idaho, failed to reach the airport at Salt Lake City. He was last heard from about 1 a. m., over Strevell, near the Utah-Idaho border.

Fear was expressed for the safety of Reserve Pilot Francis H. Rust, missing on the Kalamazoo-Chicago air mail run. Snow squalls prevailed along the route last night.

A Bimini Airways plane, piloted by Val Chick, of Miami, Fla., and carrying four passengers, disappeared on a flight from Miami to Bimini in the Bahamas yesterday. High seas made it doubtful the craft could long survive if forced down in the water.

Search was still going on in the mountains north of Los Angeles for a Century Pacific air liner with eight persons aboard, including three women, which has been lost since last Friday.

An army observation plane carrying Lieuts. Edward D. Hoffman and William A. Cocke, Jr., the latter the holder of the world glider record for distance and endurance, disappeared yesterday en route from Glendale, Cal., to San Francisco.

'CHUCK DOESN'T SEE SHADOW

While a Bre'r Groundhog was reported scanning the sky on Canoe Ridge, near Punxsutawney, for a glimpse of the sun that would permit him to see his shadow and bring six weeks more of winter, the Weather Bureau on the top floor of the Oliver Building forecasts rain with no severe cold in prospect.

Groundhog Day was snowy and murky at Canoe Ridge, as in Pittsburgh, according to reports.

The correspondent on duty at Gobblers Knob since daybreak awaiting an edict from the weatherwise marmot wired:

"A puzzled expression covered the woodchuck's grizzled countenance as he twisted his sparse gray whiskers in anxiety."

Forecaster W. S. Brotzman said: "There's no telling," as he sniffed at the idea of a groundhog knowing anything about the weather.

Indications were that the woodchuck would not see his shadow and that spring would soon be here. Groundhog or no groundhog, if winter arrives two months behind, can spring be far ahead?

Terrorized Throngs Take Refuge in Neutral Zone

BOMBS FEARED

BULLETIN.

SHANGHAI, Wednesday, Feb. 3.—(AP.)—A sullen silence had fallen upon the ruins of Chapei today after a sharp artillery duel on Tuesday, during which neither side appeared to have gained any material advance.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 2.—(AP.)—Two thousand Japanese bluejackets began a general advance on the Chapei sector this afternoon following a heavy artillery barrage. The rattle of machine guns and the roar of artillery was continuous as bluejackets advanced and the Chinese forces, centered in the Chapei area, resisted the attack.

The Chinese used mortars for artillery.

The Japanese continued their light artillery bombardment as well as the machine gun fire. The whole had every appearance of a major engagement.

The explosions of the guns shook the entire Foreign Settlement, leading to the belief that the Japanese were using heavy ordnance which, it was thought, must be the guns of the warships in the lower river.

CHINESE FIGHT BACK

The bombardment followed a long air reconnoisance by Japanese planes which struck terror into the hearts of both foreigners and Chinese, who expected another rain of bombs to shatter

LEAGUE MEETS

BULLETIN.

TOKIO, Feb. 2 (10.15 P. M.) — (INS.) — Kenkichi Yoshisawa, Japanese foreign minister, informed the American, British and French ambassadors tonight that Japan would take into consideration the peace proposals submitted by those governments.

GENEVA, Switzerland, Feb. 2.—(AP.)—America, Great Britain, France and Italy announced in brisk military style at an extraordinary meeting of the League of Nations Council today that the Sino-Japanese fighting must "come to an end," and that they had decided to make further diplomatic efforts to stop it.

J. H. Thomas, a British cabinet member, spoke for his country and the United States, and the American delegates to the disarmament conference sat near the council table.

That conference was delayed for an hour while the council met.

When he had finished his brief but emphatic declaration of policy, Dino Grandi, for Italy, and the French representative announced that their governments approved the stand of Washington and London.

The German delegate made a similar statement.

WILSON ASSIGNED

Hugh Wilson, United States minister to Switzerland, and a delegate to the arms conference, has been assigned by the United States government to act in collaboration with the council of the league in its effort to settle the crisis.

The American and British governments, said Mr. Thomas, would be glad if the other powers would follow their lead, but in any event the two English-speaking nations are determined to stop the fighting and to bring about a settle-

U. S. and Britain Offer Plan to End Hostilities

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—(AP.)—The United States and Great Britain submitted to the Japanese and Chinese governments today detailed proposals designed to end hostilities.

France and Italy were expected to do likewise.

PEACE TERMS

While gunfire again raked Chinese sections of Shanghai, President Hoover and his cabinet waited anxiously for word whether the peace efforts would have fruition.

The Far Eastern authorities took them under consideration. The proposals were:

Cessation of violence.

No more warlike preparations.

Withdrawal of combatants from points of contact.

Neutral zones to protect the International Settlement.

Prompt negotiations for permanent peace.

Chinese Spurns Aid Of Japanese Doctor

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 2.—(AP.)—When Fong Choy, 36, Chinese, found a Japanese interne, Dr. Walter Iraiki, had been assigned to set his broken leg in an emergency hospital here, two policement, an interpreter and three nurses were needed to keep Fong from crawling out of the hospital.

After the fracture was set, Fong remarked that Dr. Iraiki must have gone to school in China.

Daughter of Duce In China War Zone

Exchange Bank Sale Of Stock Approved

Judge R. M. Gibson today authorized Robert R. Gordon, receiver of the Exchange National Bank, to sell stocks and bonds with par value of $1,340,000 and 6,100 shares of no-par value, as free assets, the proceeds to be used in liquidation of the bank's affairs.

FOOD OR FIGHT, MINERS WARN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—(AP.)—David Rinne, of the Miners' Relife Fund of Pittsburgh, said before a House Labor Subcommittee today that there was danger of widespread violence in the Washington County mining area of Pennsylvania unless federal relief is granted.

The testimony was given on the La Follette-Costigan bill to provide $375,000,000 for federal aid.

Rinne said most of the miners in Allegheny County who are working are so underpaid that they are on the welfare list and getting weekly allowances for food.

Rinne continued:

"In the coal fields of Western Pennsylvania only about 15 per cent of the normal capacity is being worked, which means at least 20,000 miners are out of work. In Allegheny County about 200,000 are wholly out of work and at least $10,000,000 more money is needed to care for them during this year. This is in addition to what has already been raised.

"In Washington County at least 8,000 coal miners are unemployed, and the county poor funds are exhausted, the county authorities are in debt and their credit is shot."

Japan Denies Landing Marines in Nanking

Naval Chief Blames Chinese Attack for Bombardment

By FLOYD GIBBONS
International News Service.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 2.—"No Japanese marines have landed in Nanking and I have no intention of landing them there."

In these words the admiral of the Japanese fleet here, Koichi Shiozawa, definitely denied at noon today that he had landed marines at the Chinese capital temporarily abandoned, which was bombarded for over two hours yesterday from Japanese ships.

Mr. Gibbons

The admiral received me in his quarters aboard a Japanese gunboat moored in the Whangpoo River at Soochow Creek, in front of the Japanese consulate. He was asked:

"Why did the Japanese cruiser from middle river open fire unprovoked on a sleeping town?"

He replied:

"Our fire was not unprovoked and Nanking was not asleep.

"That's the kind of misleading propaganda we have to deal with. The facts are that the Chinese military opened fire on our ships at 11 p. m., Monday.

"It was dark and nobod could see who fired the first the city. The fliers landed without any apparent action however.

Observers said they believed they were taking extensive photographs of Chapei.

Earlier in the day the Chinese issued a flat statement declaring they would oppose any further Japanese attacks within Chapei but they would be careful to refrain from touching the Foreign Settlement. They declared there are now 15,000 Chinese troops in Shanghai.

The statement said the Chinese civilian authorities were working in complete accord with the military forces and that if another Japanese attack were undertaken the Chinese would "strike back hard."

REFUGEES PANICKY

Chinese refugees, panicky over the new Japanese move, poured in a human torrent into the city during the day, aggravating a situation that already was serious enough. With the safety of Chinese in the International Settlement lessened by the Japanese invasion of it, most of the refugees today made for the French concession lying adjacent to it where a stern defense has been set up by the French troops.

Traffic was jammed and backed up for blocks in the streets of the Settlement as the motley throng of Chinese crushed through the gates.

Humor and tragedy were mingled in the stampede. Thousands of them were afoot, and weighted down with bundles. Women carried children in slings on their backs. Poverty, bewilderment and fear were reflected from their faces.

Whole families, overcome with exhaustion and discouragement, camped upon the sidewalks. The native police were unable to cope with the frenzied throng.

In the French concession, whither they were bound, an announcement had been made that any attempt by the Japanese to enter would be resisted by force. Wire entanglements were erected around the French area, and French soldiers were on guard over them. The boundaries were patrolled by armored cars.

International Settlement Reported Set Afire

TOKIO, Feb. 2.—(AP.)—Dispatches received here this afternoon said Chinese had set fire to the Japanese district of Hongkew in the International Settlement, and that a large section of it was burning.

The news dispatches said the gunfire was shaking the whole city, while airplanes roared overhead.

Airplanes from the Japanese aircraft carriers Hosho and Notoro made a scouting tour of the Chapei district first, they said, scouting and dropping bombs later.

The Japanese were withdrawing into the northern area of the International Settlement because of the fire, the dispatches said.

Meanwhile official Japan spent most of the day considering problems arising out of the situation at Shanghai and ended by indicating the country would continue to follow what it called defensive policy in China.

A reorganization of the Navy was announced by the Navy office. It included formation of a third Japanese fleet, uniting all the naval units in South China waters, including those at Shanghai, under one command. Heretofore the Navy has been divided into two fleets.

Besides this change, the Navy was given a new general head, bringing it, as the Army was brought recently, under the direct supervision of a member of the family of the Emperor.

Nanking in Terror After Bombardment

NANKING, Feb. 2.—(INS.)—Residents of Nanking today were terrified in fear of a repetition of the Japanese bombardment early this morning.

Thousands of Chinese fled from outlying districts to within the walled city for protection although even here they found little comfort.

Each side blamed the other for the opening shot, and this point remained in doubt, but there was no difference of opinion as to what happened after the first shot was fired.

SIX MORE WEEKS OF WHAT? By Quin Hall

would be taken if the proposals proved unacceptable.

The American government plainly was avoiding any semblance of a threat, reserving meantime complete freedom to act as future events may dictate.

President Hoover studied developments as told in dispatches to the Navy.

One was that the Japanese had agreed to discontinue patrols in the Anglo-American quarters of the International Settlement at Shanghai.

TANKS ON WAY

Col. Richard S. Hooker—in command of the United States Marines at Shanghai — notified that "reliable reports state two regiments of Japanese infantry and of artillery and one of tanks are en route there."

Hooker also reported that two Japanese reconnaissance planes flew over the Settlement today.

Lieut. Com. P. W. Rutledge aboard the Simpson sent word "No firing since last night" at Nanking.

Admiral Montgomery M. Taylor aboard the cruiser Houston leading seven destroyers to join the six American destroyers already there, is expected to arrive about noon tomorrow. The mine sweepers, Finch and Bittern, he said have left Manila for Shanghai and will arrive February 6.

PREPAREDNESS URGED

The developments in China were seized upon in several quarters to strengthen the demand for stronger armament, coupled with warnings of serious danger to this country if the signs are disregarded.

Senator J. Hamilton Lewis (Dem.) of Illinois uttered the thought in a nationally-broadcast radio speech last night, adding a prediction that Japan aimed at a dominance of Asiatic affairs, which, through an "Asiatic Monroe Doctrine," would make her a dangerous power to the United States in the future.

Senator James J. Davis of Pennsylvania said the situation contained the making of a conflict of greater proportions than the World War.

In the House of Representatives presentation of the appropriation bill for the Army was held up until developments indicate whether planned economy cuts should instead be abandoned.

TRUCK FREIGHT PLAN FOUGHT

HARRISBURG, Feb. 2.—(AP.)—Westward extension of the territory service by Motor Freight Express, trucking affiliate of the Pennsylvania Railroad, was protested today at a stormy session before the Public Service Commission.

Counsel for complainants, led by Maj. E. M. Vale, former chief of the Commission's Bureau of Public Convenience, charged the applicant had failed to notify all certificate-holders operating over the routes sought.

The pending application would connect Pittsburgh and Southwestern Pennsylvania with the extensive motor freight lines now operated by Motor Freight Express between Philadelphia and the Reading-Lancaster-York-Harrisburg area. The additional route sought is from Reading to Pittsburgh, via Lancaster, Gettysburg and the Lincoln highway.

Chinese Censoring Foreign Messages

LONDON, Feb. 2.—(INS.)—China has imposed a censorship on all messages to foreign countries, the Great Northern Cable Company announced this afternoon.

WORK SPEEDED AT NAVY YARD

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 2.—(AP.)—The Public Ledger says the government's preparations to protect its nationals in the Orient has resulted in increased activity in the Philadelphia Navy Yard.

A total of 260 men have been called to work in the past 10 days, 100 of them yesterday, the paper says, for the purpose of reconditioning 16 destroyers. The force at work in the yard now is almost at its peace-time strength of 3,600 men, exclusive of the naval aircraft factory.

BOSTON, Feb. 2.—(INS.)—Officials of the Charlestown Navy Yard revealed yesterday that upwards of 1,500 men had applied for work in response to rumors that the United States government was making secret military preparations due to the Sino-Japanese situation at Shanghai.

20 Dead Soldiers Returned to Japan

SASEBO, Japan, Feb. 2.—(AP.)—The cruiser Tatsuta arrived from Shanghai today, bringing the bodies of 20 Japanese bluejackets who were killed in the fighting there, and 81 wounded. Solemn Buddhist funeral rites for the dead were held and attended by a large crowd.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 2.—(AP.)—Sylvester W. Sammons, 55, publisher of the Morristown (Ind.) Sun, a weekly paper, jumped from the Indiana Soldiers and Sailors Monument here today, his body alighting in a statuary group near the base. He was killed.

Ultimatum Delivered at League Council; Nations Threaten to Take Action

Mr. Thomas asserted:

"War—in everything but name—is in progress.

"Shanghai has been the scene of conflict in which artillery and airplanes have taken part. To such a state of affairs the members of this league cannot be indifferent. If we allow it to go on, the league covenant and kindred international treaties must inevitably lose the confidence of the world.

"It is not without significance to the league members that the government of the United States holds an identical view of the situation in all the efforts of peace which the council has made in the past four months."

The armies of both belligerents must retire, he asserted, and a neutral zone must be organized under British and American supervision.

The British representative spoke with tremendous emphasis, and by his side, listening quietly, sat Naotake Sato, the Japanese representative, poring over a booklet of the League covenant.

Near the council table sat Dr. Mary Emma Woolley and the other American delegates to the disarmament conference. There was a crowd of tense spectators.

Mr. Thomas finished, the German delegate said he was informing his government of developments; Dr. W. W. Yen thanked the council for China, and then Sato rose to reply.

Mr. Thomas lit his pipe and turned sideways in his chair to regard his brown neighbor.

LAUGH AT SATO

The Japanese suavely expressed satisfaction at the important declarations of the great powers and said the plan they proposed amounted to execution of the procedure already proposed by Japan.

At this there was laughter by some of the spectators not seated at the council table.

Sato ignored the interruption and read a long statement explaining that the bombardment of Nanking was provoked by a Chinese attack on Japanese Bluejackets.

Sir Eric Drummond, the secretary, announced that the league commission of observers, composed of neutral diplomatic representatives on the spot, would meet today at Shanghai.

Then Andre Tardieu, French minister of war, who was chairman of this meeting, adjourned the session so that the members could go across town and open the disarmament conference, which had been postponed shortly before noon to make way for the league council.

While the doors of the chamber which is to house the long-expected world disarmament conference from today on were prepared to open on the first session, discouragement and cynicism pressed down under the weight of the news from the Far East, where China and Japan are at each other's throats at Shanghai, Nanking and Harbin.

LEADERS MISSING

Keenly conscious of the fears and bitter rivalries which are shaking governments and peoples, most of the world's best known statesmen did not appear for the opening session at all. Secretary of State Stimson was not there from the United States, Prime Minister MacDonald, of Great Britain, remained in London. Premier Laval, of France, was in Paris, and Chancellor Bruening, of Germany, was in Berlin.

Maxim Litvinoff, commissar for foreign affairs of Soviet Russia, was on hand, however, prepared to present in due time his proposal for a reduction in armaments.

The United States delegation, fighting against the prevailing pessimism, was more cheerful, perhaps, than any other and clung to the hope that some system of limitations might be agreed upon.

The largest of all national delegations was the Japanese. The smallest delegation to come from so large a nation came from China. It consisted of three or four members, led by W. W. Yen, China's new ambassador to the United States, and spokesman before the league.

Prospects for success of the conference are admittedly dark, but some international observers agree that the assembly may be able to accomplish some objectives of limited value.

Since the conference will proceed by stages, in which recesses will probably be longer than work stages, the deliberations are expected to extend at least into the middle of next year.

COOLIES CHIEF PERIL TO ALIENS

Despite the Japanese invasion of Shanghai, with its attendant warfare, residents of the International Settlement face a greater peril from the Chinese coolie, in the opinion of Commander C. M. James, in charge of naval recruiting in Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

Commander James, who returned to the United States in September from active duty in the Orient, said today that where there is warfare, innocents are always endangered by stray shots, adding:

"Residents of the International Settlement face a greater peril from the inflamed, unorganized, uneducated Chinese. Unchecked by leaders, they may run riot in the foreign section for plunder and loot."

Commander James does not expect serious trouble in China involving the American or European governments. Should war come, he believes Americans will respond as they did in 1917.

SEES MENACE IN CHINA INVASION

Col. Roy F. Quill, who announced Saturday that he was arranging for funds with which to initiate a school for the training of Chinese pilots, today declared that unless China was able to drive the Japanese from its land there would be another World War, shorter but greater than the last.

Col. Quill, who holds his honorary commission in the Chinese army for his work as an instructor in China, also said that 40 college and high school students had communicated with him during the past 48 hours, asking how they could join the Chinese army. Quill said:

"China has always been good pickings for all countries. She is a great market.

"Other nations, now, are not going to sit by and watch Japan pack this market in her own basket."

Quill concluded with the assurance that the trouble in China would have been settled long ago if the League of Nations had not existed. He said:

"The nine-power treats and the Kellogg peace pact would have been enough to settle our difficulty."

Tionesta Navy Man Sailing to War Zone

TIONESTA, Pa., Feb. 2.—Lieut. Commander James K. Davis, 37, of Tionesta, is in charge of the destroyer Barker, which is now en route from Manila to Shanghai. The son of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Davis, he is a graduate from Annapolis in 1916, and has been stationed at Manila since August, 1930.

shot, and that's why the Chinese blame us. Three shells were fired from the Lion fort, and at the same time the Chinese regular army opened up machine guns on a small detachment of our sailors guarding the dock of a warehouse of a Japanese shipping company.

"Our sailors responded and repulsed the attack, and at the same time two of our cruisers trained guns on the Lion fort and returned the Chinese fire. The cruiser Sushima hurled eight six-inch shells into the Chinese fort, and the cruiser Tenyru fired two more.

"Our fire was directed at the fort and not at the town. Chinese guns were silenced after three shots and we stopped firing after 10 shots. One of our sailors was seriously wounded.

"My report, just received by navy wireless, does not state whether the wounded sailor was on the cruiser or among the guard on shore.

FILES PROTEST

"The Chinese attack on us was entirely unprovoked. We have filed a strong protest with the Chinese government."

He was asked:

"How was the protest filed?"

He replied:

"Very, strange, very strange. You see this is not a regular war, but still it is very dangerous in Nanking, so it is not possible for our consul or diplomats to call on the Chinese government. We must find other means.

"So this morning the senior officer of the cruiser Sushima was to make an official visit to the commander of the American destroyer Sampson, advise him of the full account of the night clash, and present to him an official protest by the Japanese Consul with the request that he present it to the American Consul ashore at Nanking, and then ask the American Consul to deliver the Japanese protest to the Chinese government in Nanking—if there is any Chinese government remaining in Nanking.

"Yes, it is all very strange."

"Very strange, indeed,", I agreed!

POSITION AWKWARD

"It makes my position awkward here in Shanghai, where everything I have done has been in accordance with plans of defense laid out by the international concession defense committee.

"Our lines at present all are within the zone agreed upon in the original defense plans, but the danger is increasing, because the Chinese are concentrating field guns in the railroad yards opposite us and are installing strong entrenchments in the ruins of the Commercial Press Building and the old railroad station."

I remarked here that I was unable to understand why the Japanese fliers bombed the station in the crowded civilian quarter, when the railroad could have been cut by bombing the tracks beyond the town, accomplishing the same military object.

Admiral Shiozawa explained as follows:

"Outside the town the tracks are very narrow—being only a single track. It is very difficult to drop a bomb just exactly on the track. Bombs fall on both sides of the track, but not directly on it.

BETTER BOMBING

"We will do better next time. I have given strict orders to fliers to limit their targets to military objects and men. I had hoped to send my planes up over the city today, not for bombing—just to make a reconnaissance.

"But this fog is very bad, and it would make visibility very poor. Maybe after awhile the sun will come out."

Well, sir, boys and girls, that interview occurred within the last hour, and since I left the admiral's quarters, by golly, the sun has come out, and just a few minutes ago one of the admiral's seaplane bombers sailed right over this hotel in which I am banging out this broadcast.

Everybody else in Shanghai is worried, but I have the admiral's assurance that the planes are up above without bombs and are there just to look and see, so of course I am not scared—that is, not much!

Navy Department Denies Mobilizing Reserves

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—(AP.)—Naval officials said today they were unable to explain the basis for the frequently recurring rumors that naval reserves were being mobilized.

Those directly in charge of naval reserves said no such orders had gone out and none was contemplated. They added that nothing more than routine operations were under way so far as the reserves were concerned.

They believe the confusion may result from the summoning back to duty of some reserve man who has asked for an assignment. Quite frequently one is called to act as a keeper of a ship the reserves use. Three hundred reservists are available in the various naval districts for this purpose.

Each summer fleet reservists go on a two weeks training cruise, but orders for these cruises will not go out for months.

Unemployed merchant marine reservists were urged last week to take this opportunity to get in a 15 or 30-day training period with the fleet.

MacDonald Faces Knife To Save Failing Sight

LONDON, Feb. 2.—(AP.)—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald will undergo an operation, immediately after tomorrow's cabinet meeting, for "a slight and progressive diminution of the vision of his left eye," caused by overwork, it was announced today.

The Prime Minister's general health was stated to be satisfactory, but the operation means it will not be possible for him to go to Geneva during the coming week-end, as he had planned, it was stated.

He hopes to go as soon as he recovers from the effects of the operation, however, the announcement said.

The following bulletin was issued from 10 Downing street:

"The Prime Minister has recently suffered from a slight and progressive diminution of the vision of one eye. We are of the opinion that an immediate operation is advisable in order to relieve the present condition and to check the cause of the trouble."

The bulletin was signed by the Prime Minister's physicians.

AVOWAL DURING TRIAL HELD IMPROPER

Girl's Public Pledge to Slain Sweetheart Brings Court Warning to Witnesses

NORRISTOWN, Pa., Feb. 2.—(AP.)—Rose Allen's public statement of her love for Francis A. Donaldson III, slain in a quarrel over attentions paid to her, brought a rebuke today from Judge Harold G. Knight, presiding at the trial of her brother, Edward, charged with killing Donaldson. The state will demand Allen's life in the electric chair.

When the second day of the trial opened, Judge Knight said his attention had been called to a public interview by one of the witnesses in the case. He asserted:

"I consider the giving and publication by witnesses while the case is on trial highly improper and we wish to express our disapproval. Those who already have been chosen for the jury and also those talesmen still to be examined must disabuse their minds of anything of this character. I trust the incident will not be repeated while the case is on trial."

EIGHTH JUROR PICKED

Rose Allen made her statement yesterday in the office of District Attorney Stewart Nase during the noon recess of court. She told reporters:

"My allegiance to Skinny is just what it always has been. I feel as if I am still engaged to the man I wanted to mary."

She said she would not enter the courtroom until the prosecutor calls her to the witness stand. As for the nature of her testimony, she declared:

"I am not helping either side in this case. I am going to tell my story the way I know it. I am anxious to testify and get it over with."

Five jurors remained to be selected when the court resumed proceedings. Of the seven chosen yesterday one is a woman.

Twenty minutes after the trial started today, the eighth juror was picked.

Father in Collapse As Girl Deserts Allen

NORRISTOWN, Pa., Feb. 2.—(Universal.)—Horace Allen, father of Edward H. B. Allen, 23, Philadelphia society sportsman, who went on trial yesterday for killing his sister's fiance, Francis A. Donaldson III, collapsed after reading that his debutante daughter, Rose Allen, had decided to defend her dead sweetheart instead of trying to save her brother from the electric chair.

Unable to stand the strain longer, the elder Allen was under the care of a physician, according to William T. Connor, one of the younger Allen's defense lawyers.

The breach between Allen and his daughter has widened since the father, in a desperate attempt to save his son, announced shortly after the killing that "Eddie" had shot Donaldson to avenge his sister's betrayal.

Rose and her father are not staying under the same roof, and did not speak to one another during yesterday's court proceedings.

N. Y. GANGSTERS MASSACRE 3 IN HOME

Woman, 2 Men Killed, Fourth Dying After Raid on Party; Children Periled by Gunfire

International News Service.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—New York's deadliest and most ruthless underworld execution in which an assassin squad mowed down a group of Vincent Coll adherents as they made merry at a party reached out a deathly hand for its fourth victim today.

With one woman, mother of three children, and two men left dead on the scene of the carnage in the dining room of a Bronx house, and another woman and two men injured, doctors at a hospital said that Louis Basile, 40, one of those shot, was in a dying condition.

14 IN HOME

There were nine adults and four or five children in the home where the party was held.

Just as the gathering prepared to sit down to table late last night, four gunmen, believed to be allied with the "Dutch" Schultz gang, rivals of Coll, invaded the room.

They blazed away at the terror-stricken victims with automatics. Before the victims could defend themselves, three of them, including a woman, fell dead before the withering fire. Three others were wounded.

The killers fled downstairs and raced off in an automobile waiting near the house.

GANGLAND FEUD

Police Commissioner Mulrooney thought it probable that the gunmen were out to "get" Coll, for whose death his sworn foe, Schultz, was said to have posted $50,000.

The dead were: Emely Torrizello, 32; Fiorie Basile, 40; Patsy Del Greco, Coll's chief lieutenant.

The wounded are Mrs. Lena Vineiguerra, 40; Louis Basile, 40, and Joseph Parrone, 19.

Two children were in the room while the massacre was in progress, but were not hurt. Two other children were in an adjoining room.

New Castle's Executive Dares Church Groups to Arrest Film Operators

"I hope they try to arrest the operator. That's me. I challenge them."

In the meantime, a group of men and women representing the Bible classes of the Evangelical churches of the city met at the Y. M. C. A., passed resolutions of protest and formed a permanent public "morals committee."

Hundreds of dollars were raised on Sunday by various men's classes and church organizations to carry on the battle to close the moving picture theaters on Sunday.

Linebarger urged the committee to recommend an international conference to end extra-territoriality in China, "so the Chinese government can become a real sovereignty and end the Japanese menace."

He declared Japan meant to "devour China."

Senator Borah (Rep.), of Idaho, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, countered:

"If you want my opinion, I think it is more likely that the 450,000,000 Chinese will swallow up the Japs if they ever get over there."

COOLIDGE USED HOTEL BIBLE FOR OATH

Ex-Judge Explains Second Administration of Pledge Upon Becoming President

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—(AP.)—The administering of a second oath of office to Calvin Coolidge after the picturesque ceremony by lamplight in the Vermont farm home of the former President's father was related today by A. A. Hoehling, a former judge.

Hoehling, at one time a justice of the District of Columbia Supreme Court, said the second oath was taken in the suite then occupied by Coolidge at the Willard Hotel and that arrangements were made by Harry M. Daugherty, former Attorney General.

Daugherty swore him to secrecy, Hoehling said, and he kept the pledge until the incident was revealed by Daugherty in a recent book.

Hoehling said the second oath was presumably taken because of some question of the validity of the first, a hotel Bible being used.

The validity of the first oath was challenged because Col. John Collidge, a Justice of the Peace, was a state officer and the claim was made that he had authority only to swear in state officers.

'SECRET 6' HEAD URGES REPEAL OF DRY LAW

Law Forces Corrupted Under Prohibition, Chicago Crime Crusader Declares Here

Repeal of the prohibition laws will be the first important step to overcome present crime conditions, Col. Robert Isham Randolph, head of the Chicago "Secret Six," declared here today in commenting on the findings of 18 monnths' investigation of the Capone syndicate.

Pittsburgh can operate its own secret crime commission, Randolph said. The first requisite to the success of such an organization is the co-operation of the county and city law enforcement officers. The newspapers of Chicago were credited with aiding in the campaign by a continuous policy of giving front page publicity to crime news. This aroused public interest, he explained.

PROTECTION VITAL

Randolph said:

"Crime syndicates and rackets cannot exist without police protection. Under the prohibition law, corruption reaches down through federal, state and municipal enforcement forces. It will continue as long as such enormous profits are possible from the illegal business.

"The anti-crime organization of Chicago is composed of 30 members of the Chamber of Commerce, while the "Secret Six" is the executive committee directing the campaign.

"Our chief action always followed information purchased from stool pigeons. Each tip would be worth several hundred dollars."

Randolph is the only member of the Secret Six whose identity has been revealed.

OFFER BY CAPONE

Speaking today at a Chamber of Commerce luncheon attended by more than 500 men, he told how his organization waged a relentless war against bootleggers until one day Al Capone came to his office and said:

"You're making things tough for me. Last week I didn't make a cent. I have 200 men on my personal payroll, each making $200 a week. These men are all ex-convicts and now are respectable citizens. You lay off the beer, whisky and honest gambling joints and I'll police the town for you. There will be no more bombings and no more killings."

Randolph said he told Capone that he could not accept the proposition and they parted friendly enemies. He said:

"Capone came without bodyguards. I didn't have any either. The newspapers were my bodyguards throughout the campaign."

Mexico Supports U. S. Against Japan

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 2.—(AP.)—The newspaper Excelsior today editorially declared that if trouble were to come in the Far East, Mexico would find itself unalterably allied with the United States.

The editorial said that, while Japan undoubtedly needed room for expansion, its conduct at Shanghai was entirely unjustified.

the new kind of airplane and submarine war? What sort of "depression" should we have at the end of the adventure?

WITH SUCH NEWS as Shanghai sends, it seems hardly worth while to mention anything else. Still, many will be glad to turn their minds from the International Settlement at Shanghai to S. W. Beasley's chicken farm, just east of here, in Pomona.

Mr. Beasley has fifty thousand hens, and thanks to organization and system, six men are able to do all the work. And, this will stagger chicken farmers all around the world, EVEN AT PRESENT PRICES, THE FIFTY THOUSAND HENS MAKE A PROFIT FOR THEIR OWNER.

THE EGGS ARE all sold to the Safeway Stores, at two cents per dozen below the wholesale market price. Experts cull out the "non-layers" from the layers, and those non-layers number twenty-five to forty per cent of the whole flock each year, no birth control tolerated.

The chicken farm is close to the ranch where W. K. Kellogg raises Arabian horses. Friends say his business showed a profit of five million dollars last year. But the profit did not come from the beautiful Arabians.

KERR TO SEEK REBATED TAX PENALTIES

Controller Aims to Collect From Persons Favored Under Schooley Regime

City Controller James P. Kerr will seek to collect $8,297 delinquent tax penalties which were rebated to favored individuals and firms under the administration of Roy D. Schooley as treasurer, he indicated today.

Kerr was to confer with Thomas M. Benner, first assistant city solicitor, as to the legal steps necessary, following a study of the auditor's report on the delinquent tax office revealing the names of those illegally absolved from paying penalties.

$89,843 SOUGHT

The Controller also will investigate the possibility of recovering delinquent taxes totaling $89,843 from residents of 20 former boroughs and townships annexed to Pittsburgh in recent years. Liens in many cases have lapsed, the auditors disclosed.

As a result of the auditors' revelations of numerous alleged irregularities affecting collection and depositing of delinquent tax funds, an improved system of records and handling of money will be instituted, Kerr asserted.

A copy of the report was sent to District Attorney A. T. Park, who previously had been advised of the vital features of the document. Indictment of Schooley, his former aide, Arthur G. Burgoyne, and LaSalle Girts, real estate agent, grew out of the auditors' probe.

SHERIFF BLAMES CITY

Replying to comment of the auditors on delay in the city's receiving money from the Sheriff's office on sales of property for delinquent taxes, Robert S. Cain, former sheriff, now County Treasurer, today said no money ever had been refused the city when it was asked for. A. E. Anke, chief clerk to the Sheriff, said the city never was prompt in collecting money due and that notice sometimes was given for the Treasurer to get funds held by the Sheriff.

COUNCIL SCANS EXPO AUDIT

City Controller James P. Kerr's audit of the Western Pennsylvania Exposition Society's finances in connection with the society's contract with the city, was to be examined by Council's Committee on Finance this afternoon.

The audit discloses, according to Kerr, that the debt of the society, which controls operation of the old Exposition Building, is being reduced at the rate of 8 per cent annually.

It shows the society's debt has been reduced from $347,610.03 in 1919, when the contract with the city was drafted, to $112,321.09 in 1931.

Revenues derived from the Exposition Building include $12,000 annually from the Pittsburgh Railways Company and $6,060 from the Ready-Mixed Concrete Company.

A motion by Councilman W. Y. English, instructing Mayor Charles H. Kline and Richard W. Thompson not to pay any bills in connection with the society until Kerr's audit was received, will also be acted upon today. The legislation was introduced at a meeting yesterday.

SLAYER AGAIN DOOMED TO DIE

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 2.—(AP.)—A jury of 12 married men last night convicted Harold E. Williams for the second time for the slaying of his brother-in-law, William F. Prophet, and recommended death in the electric chair as the penalty. The jury deliberated three hours and 26 minutes.

Bitter clashes between the prosecutor and defense counsel, which marked the trial, continued to delay the proceedings even in the closing hours of the case. Judge Harry S. McDevitt ordered Samuel Moyerman, the defense attorney, to apologize to Assistant District Attorney Vincent Carroll for referring to the trial as "Carroll's circus."

Williams was convicted and sentenced to death once for the slaying of Prophet, but was granted a new trial when the Supreme Court ruled the "hidden motive" had been excluded improperly. Both Williams and his sister, Mrs. Clara Grace Prophet, now serving a life sentence for her share in the killing of her husband, gave detailed testimony concerning the so-called "hidden motive," charging Williams killed his brother-in-law over the latter's abuse of Mrs. Prophet.

Staff Correspondent.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Feb. 2.—John J. Yoder, former Deputy Sheriff in the employe of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, was accused today of firing the shot that killed Mike Pilipovich at Arnold City during a mine disorder last June 23.

O. P. Claybaugh, the ninth defendant, surrendered today and committed to jail with the other defendants to await a habeas corpus hearing tomorrow morning.

The others under arrest were Ernest Barnes, former superintendent of the Pittsburgh Coal Company mine; James Buttermore, coal and iron policeman; Jess Sisley, Donald Royston, Ted Hunt, Wesley Fisher and Leroy Ingram.

BOY ACCUSES DEPUTY

Yoder was named as the slayer by Pilipovich's 10-year-old son, Fred, who stood beside his father when he was shot down on the front porch of his home. The boy, when questioned about who fired the shot, declared:

"Sure I know who shot my pap—it was Yoder. I was standing in the yard when pap came running out on the porch.

"Barnes and the deputies had stopped their cars just across the road and, when pap came out, Barnes yelled, 'shoot the—' and Yoder pointed his gun at us and fired. My pap fell down beside me and when I ran to him he said, 'Oh, my God,' and then he died."

TELLS OF CHASE

Young Pilipovich recounted the slaying of his father without once faltering. Despite his youth, he appeared to realize the importance of the accusations, and, questioned further about who participated in the shooting after Supt. Barnes had given the word to open fire, he said:

"Sure I know them all—there was Claybaugh and Royston, Buttermore, Hunt, Sisley, Fisher and Ingram. They all shot off their guns, and one of them—I think it was Hunt—chased a man around through the alley above our place and shot at him 11 times before he hit him."

District Attorney Wade Newell, who made informations against the coal company superintendent and the guards on information received from Pilipovich's 20-year-old widow, Mrs. Mary Snock Pilipovich.

HAS COMPLETE CASE

District Attorney Wade K. Newell says he will present a complete case at the habeas corpus hearing tomorrow in an effort to have the former deputies and ex-superintendent of the Pittsburgh Coal Company plant held without bail for the March term of court.

Yesterday Newell interviewed a number of witnesses in a secret session. None of whom appeared were required to appear at the inquest, it was learned, despite the fact that at the time it was generally known they had been eyewitnesses to the shooting of Pilipovich.

Evidence introduced at the inquest showed that Pilipovich had died as a result of shotgun wounds. No evidence was introduced, it is said, to show that any of the company guards had been armed with shotguns. It was testified that they had carried rifles and pistols.

Mississippi Rises Above Flood Stage

NATCHEZ, Miss., Feb. 2.—The Mississippi river rose above flood stage at several points in the lower valley today, but its tributaries caused the only concern.

The big river, swollen by the floods in Louisiana, Arkansas and Mississippi, was at 46.4 feet or four-tenths of a foot above flood stage here. It was nearly 2 feet over flood level at Arkansas City, Ark., and Vicksburg, Miss., and just at flood stage at Baton Rouge, La.

Baker in Mexico For Week's Rest

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 2.—(AP.)—Newton D. Baker, who was United States Secretary of War at the time of the Pershing punitive expedition into Mexico in 1916, and Mrs. Baker arrived here last night for a week's vacation. He declined to discuss international affairs or politics, including the possibility of his becoming a presidential candidate.

Smashes Window So He Can 'Go to Jail and Eat'

Thomas Flanagan, 28, of 124 Washington place, who told police he hurled a brick through the plate glass window of a store at 342 Fifth avenue to be arrested and given a meal, was to be arraigned in Central Police Court today for disorderly conduct.

Patrolman Edward McCall said he arrested Flanagan near the broken window after a crowd of homeward bound theater folk had been attracted by the smashing of the window. Questioned by McCall, Flanagan said:

"Yes, I did it. I want to go to jail so I can eat."

Stage Dancer Wins Marriage Annulment

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 2.—(AP.)—Greta Amber Deane, former musical comedy dancer, won an annulment of her marriage when she testified in Superior Court that Gene Darby, actor, had an undivorced wife when he married her.

BUILDERS HOLD WAGE PARLEYS

Negotiations for wage agreements between contractors and building trades are being continued today. Some of the trades have called their men away from the Gulf Building, Little Sisters of the Poor, Islam Grotto, Arsenal High School and East Liberty Presbyterian Church jobs.

Plasterers, laborers and iron workers are on strike in a number of instances, according to F. O. Reed, secretary of the Building Trades Employers' Association. A meeting with a committee from the Bricklayers' Union failed to reach an agreement last night, but negotiations were not broken off, Reed said.

The Employers' Association had asked the unions to take a 25 per cent reduction in wages, effective January 1. A month was given to discussions with the trade unions, but employers now have taken a firm stand that a reduction must be made. The Carpenters' District Council has agreed to a $2-a-day decrease.

Economy Brings Garner Back to High Collars

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—(AP.)—A secret liking for the stiff high collar of other days, combined with economy reasons, caused Speaker Garner to blossom out today with his chin propped up.

For the past few years he had worn soft ones, yielding to custom and the refusal of manufacturers to turn out such things. He said:

"I happened to find about two dozen of these stuck away in an old trunk, and told Mrs. Garner that these being hard times I thought I'd just start wearing them until they wear out. I always liked them, anyway."

MORE HOSPITAL BEDS FOR VETS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—(AP.)—Increased hospitalization facilities are to be provided World War veterans of the Pittsburgh and Scranton districts of Pennsylvania.

Veterans Administrator Hines, at the request of Senator Reed, of Pennsylvania, ordered increased bed allotments in existing hospitals to accommodate waiting cases. The directions provide that 10 additional beds be provided in the various veterans' hospitals in Philadelphia for cases from Pittsburgh.

The request for Pittsburgh was made at the instance of J. Guy Griffith, service officer of that region for the American Legion, who contended Pittsburgh was being given less than its proportionate share of general treatment beds in hospitals at Coatesville and Philadelphia. He said there are now 350 men on the hospital waiting list from Pittsburgh.

BANDIT DEATH QUIZ CONTINUED

The inquest into the death of Thomas Sords, North Side bandit, shot and killed during the holdup of a grocery store, December 30, will be resumed Thursday, the Coroner's office announced today.

Two witnesses, now under $5,000 bail each, have been subpenaed to reappear Thursday. They are Harry Mitchell and Jesse Thomas. It was testimony of other witnesses who said Mitchell and Thomas resembled two men seen near the store at 820 Allegheny avenue just before the holdup—which caused the adjournment of the inquest last Wednesday.

CREDIT BOARD SWORN, SCANS LOAN PLEAS

Brief Ceremony Followed By Session Behind Locked Doors; Pay Out Cash Soon

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2—(AP.)—The Reconstruction Finance Corporation officially started upon its duties today with a forecast from one of its officials that loans would be going forward very shortly.

Under the glare of a score of powerful lights, Charles Gates Dawes, president of the corporation; Jesse H. Jones of Houston, Tex., and Harvey C. Couch of Pine Bluff, Ark., took the oath of office as directors.

It was administered by James L. Dougherty, a temporary counsel of the corporation, as photographers recorded it on film and in sound.

THREE ALREADY SWORN

Eugene Meyer, chairman of the board of directors; Paul Bestor, member as chairman of the Federal Farm Loan Bureau, and Ogden Mills, Undersecretary of the Treasury, did not take the oath as they already were government officials.

Wilson McCarthy of Salt Lake City, the other director appointed, was not present. He has not yet been confirmed by the Senate.

Just before [illegible] to the corporation's headquarters, Mills said that after taking the oath there would be an immediate organization of the board, followed closely by actual loan-making activities. Mills conferred for more than an hour during the morning with President Hoover.

CEREMONY HURRIED

The oath taking ceremony was hurried by Meyer, who told photographers to "make it snappy because we have a lot of work to do."

Gen. Dawes didn't like the powerful lights and said so in these words:

"I haven't got but one pair of eyes, and I don't want them put out by these lights now."

After taking the oath, Eugene Meyer handed Dawes, Jones and Couch their commission, neatly done up like college diplomas. Jones tossed his into the air, attempted to catch it, and missed.

Inquiries about loans up to approximately $100,000,000 have been received by the corporation. These inquiries will be answered as soon as a definite procedure has been decided upon.

The board went into a meeting behind locked doors immediately after taking the oath.

KILLER LAUGHS AT POISON DOSE

CHICAGO, Feb. 2.—(AP.)—A man police described as a confessed killer boasted today he had taken slow working poison to cheat society out of administering punishment and laughed at the efforts of medical experts to save his life.

"You can't give me antidotes because I won't tell you what the poison was."

Paul Harrison, an auto mechanic, told physicians who examined him at Cook County Hospital.

The police hurried him to the hospital after he told them at headquarters he swallowed the poison as they arrested him at his apartment yesterday on a tip he might know something about four recent mysterious hammer slayings that puzzled the authorities.

Harrison showed no surprise when the police came. They said he reached under the bed and produced a confession in which he admitted killing Earl Davis, a garage watchman, Sunday night because the latter made derogatory remarks about his woman employer.

ALLUM SOUGHT IN HOLDUP PLOT

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Feb. 2.—Memories of the John Donohoe killing were revived here with receipt of word that Tony Bell, former county detective, was under arrest in Buffalo, N. Y., suspected in an alleged $50,000 payroll holdup attempt. A. W. Dawson, alias Edward Casker, alleged accomplice of Bell's, also is under arrest, and police are searching for two others, one of them indicted with Bell in the Donohoe murder case.

One of the missing suspects, known to Buffalo authorities as Glenn Cameron, is believed to be Glenn Allum, who still stands indicted for murder in this county. The other is Frank Bartonovich, said to have a police record in this state.

Strengthening the police theory that Bell's Buffalo companion is Allum is the fact that their automobile was traced to Pennsylvania. Police declare the car had been registered by Allum's wife, a resident of Washington County.

Bell was acquitted on a murder charge in connection with the Donohoe killing, but Allum was never brought to trial. Both Bell and Allum served workhouse sentences.

REED PROPOSES TARIFF STUDY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—(INS.)—The United Staes Tariff Commission would be directed to investigate the effect of depreciation in value of foreign currencies since 1930 upon the importation and exportation of all important commodities, under a resolution approved today by the Senate Finance Committee.

The resolution, introduced by Senator Reed (Rep.), of Pennsylvania, would pave the way for adjusting tariff rates to meet the changed economic conditions. It called for a report on the effect of currency depreciation and general trend of international trade.

Rhode Island Backs Smith as Candidate

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Feb. 2.—(INS.)—Confident that Alfred E. Smith, of New York, will be a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, Rhode Island delegates to the national convention today stood solidly behind the former Governor.

J. Howard McGrath, chairman of the Democratic State Committee, stated that Rhode Island's 16 delegates to the convention would support Smith. He expressed the opinion that the sentiment for Franklin D. Roosevelt was on the down grade.

OIL IMPORTERS OPPOSE TAX

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—(AP.)—Taxation engaged Congress in earnest again today with resumption of hearings on proposals for excise levies on gasoline, oil imports, electricity and gas.

More than 40 witnesses offered themselves before the Ways and Means Committee of the House, with a large proportion anxious to present vigorous opposition to the scheme. Many representatives came from the oil importing industry to combat the proposal of mid-continent petroleum producers for a tax on oil shipped in from abroad.

MINERS DEMAND 'GOOD BEER'

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 2.—(INS.)—Modification of the Volstead act to legalize "good beer" was recommended in a resolution adopted by the thirty-second constitutional convention of the United Mine Workers of America with only one dissenting vote here today.

The resolution declared that modification was more practical than repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment.

The resolution was presented by P. T. Fagan, of Pittsburgh, as chairman of the resolutions committee.

WOODCOCK HITS BILL TO BRING BEER BACK

Dry Director Insists It Would Mean Return of Saloon; Faces Senate Quiz

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2—(AP.)—Opposition to proposals to legalize beer and the belief taht prohibition enforcement is increasing in efficiency were expressed today before a Senate committee by Prohibition Director Woodcock.

In response to a question by Chairman Metcalf of the committee, Woodcock said he thought the fight against liquor law violations could be made more effective than it is now. He added that his bureau was operating with only half the personnel recommended by the Wickersham commission.

Woodcock said he had asked for 800 additional agents for the next fiscal year, but that his request had been refused because of the condition of government finances.

ENFORCEMENT VIEWS

Metcalf had asked him if he thought prohibition could be enforced.

The Rhode Island Senator cited figures, which, he said, showed that if every one who drinks a cocktail in this country were sent to jail, the average would be 300 sentences per year for every person in the country. Woodcock replied:

"If you arrested everyone who violates a speed law I think your geometrical progression would be larger."

The committee has before it a bill by Senator Bingham (Rep.) of Connecticut, to legalize 4 per cent beer.

Woodcock expressed the belief that it would lead to a return of the saloon. He added:

"Beer would be sold, I assume, in something that would be called a saloon."

"If you set up the saloon, you would set up an institution against which I think public opinion is fairly well solidified."

FEARS SALOON RETURN

Senator Bingham inquired whether an amendment in his bill to provide for distribution of beer directly from warehouses to the home and to hotels and restaurants would not overcome this objection.

Woodcock replied it "might," but said on the other hand "you might have a thing called a restaurant, that might become a saloon."

Bingham asked Woodcock whether there are not more unlawful saloons in existence now than there were lawful ones before prohibition. Woodcock replied:

"It is a matter of opinion, Senator. The trouble with discussion of the prohibition question is that so much of it is opinion and so little fact."

Coxey Will Launch Campaign in Dakota

MASSILLON, O., Feb. 2.—(AP.)—Gen. Jacob S. Coxey, who led an army of unemployed to Washington 38 years ago, announced he would leave here today in an airplane for Bismarck, N. D., to open his presidential campaign.

Coxey, now mayor of Massillon, said he would make a brief stop at Indianapolis. He will spend tonight at Chicago.

VARE DODGES DAVIS STAND

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Feb. 1.—(AP.)—Announcing his candidacy as a delegate to the Republican national convention in June, William S. Vare yesterday said he would go unpledged to any presidential candidate if he is elected.

The Philadelphia Republican leader, speaking at his home here, said he would go to the convention "with an open mind."

He denied he had reached any decision on the United States senatorship and was non-committal when asked if he indorsed the candidacy of Senator James J. Davis.

Last week Gen. Edward Martin, chairman of the Pennsylvania Republican Committee, said that the Pennsylvania delegation to the national convention would be composed of friends of President Hoover.

WELL, the old Bell Creek bridge washed out last night! Jim Daly, the traveling salesman, let the news drop casually.

His customer did not miss the point. Banning, of the Brand Iron Works, leaped at the tidbit. "The coal company's trestle? Man, that's news!" He grasped his telephone and worked fast.

In a minute or two he had permission to bid on a new bridge. By telephone he secured the specifications—consulted engineers—put the draughting room to work.

Finally he leaned back. "We'll have the estimate by noon—$5,000 at least—and the job's ours, Jim, thanks to you and the telephone!" He laughed and clapped Daly on the shoulder. "And now what can I do for you?" he said.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

GENEVA, Feb. 2.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Will Rogers

Well, we are all here ready for disarmament. The first laugh was when the Japanese delegation arrived. I don't know, but it just struck everybody funny. They have a large bunch, and everybody expects to see 'em take over the city and have it under martial law by morning. The younger members of their delegation that started out to the conference have been called back for military service. Our female delegate, Miss Wooley, is the outstanding novelty. I had an hour-and-a-half chat with her. Didn't know whether to call her Miss, Mrs., Professor, Doctor or what, so I just called her Doc. And Doc and I got along great. I had taken an interpreter, but I didn't need him, but some of my stuff had to be repeated to her. She is very plain, likable, broad in mind and body. Feet, and plenty of 'em, right on the ground. You would like her. She is not the type for a college president at all. Thirty million women of the world have hope and faith in her common sense versus diplomacy. It's no joking matter getting the world to disarm. Maybe a woman can do it—it's a cinch men can't. So good luck to you, "Doc."

Yours, WILL.

Mine Cave Causes Highway Damage

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Feb. 2.—(AP.)—Damage estimated at $15,000 by a state highway superintendent was caused yesterday when 800 feet of concrete pavement dropped as a result of a mine cave-in at the edge of West Brownsville.

The roadway, part of which was the National highway, dropped seven to 10 feet in places. Motorists had narrow escapes.

MAY SELL RIDES ON DIRIGIBLE

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—(Universal.)—So that Uncle Sam may retain the record of having the world's largest airship, the Navy dirigible Los Angeles may be converted into a sightseeing blimp for service at the Chicago World's Fair in 1933.

This was disclosed by Jerome G. Hunsaker, vice president of the Goodyer Zeppelin Corporation, which built the giant airship Akron for the Navy and now has under construction a sister dirigible originally planned to be the same size as the Akron.

In order to finance the enlargement of the new sister ship and make it larger than a new Zeppelin under construction in Germany, a group of congressional leaders, including Representative Fred Britten, of Illinois, are launching a move to commercialize the Los Angeles, Hunsaker revealed.

Deputies Patrol Mine Picket Lines

Deputy sheriffs patrolled the picket lines at Coverdale Mine No. 8 today as the National Miners' Union's strike against the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Company entered its second day.

Although pickets urged the miners to join the strike, no disorder was reported. Peaceful picketing was permitted by the deputies. Few miners heeded the strike call, it was reported yesterday.

Infantile Paralysis Control Held Near

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—(INS.)—Control of the dreaded scourge, infantile paralysis, today is within sight through immunization, according to Dr. Simon Flexner, director of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research.

Mystery was stripped from the disease by progressively growing scientific discoveries, he told the annual meeting of Evelyn Goldsmith Home for Crippled Children, Inc.

WHY RISK DOPE?

Stop Your Child's Cough Safely!

"Oscar came home with a full grown cough and cold. I put him to bed right away. Right away I gave him Smith Brothers' Cough Syrup. It eased the cough, soothed his throat, and he fell asleep. In the morning he woke up as full of health as ever." F. J. Ryan, 1366 E. 92 St., Cleveland, O.

CHEMICAL analysis reveals that many cough syrups actually contain DOPE . . . (Dope—that means morphine, opium, narcotics, ether, chloroform.)

But—mothers—you don't need to take chances with these DOPE cough syrups. Smith Brothers have developed a new type of syrup—efficient—fast-working—but WITHOUT DOPE. You can give Smith Brothers' Triple Action Cough Syrup even to a delicate child—without fear. It is safe. Remember this about it—SAFE! It can't harm little stomachs.

And its "Triple Action" works so surely that even stubborn coughs, or those dangerous "hanging-on" coughs, disappear quickly . . . Children actually like the taste. Only 35c.

BUSINESS MEN JOIN TO FIGHT TAX BOOSTS

Public Economy League to Resist 'Depredations' on Taxpayers' Purse by State

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 2.—(AP.)—A score of Pennsylvania leaders, representing business and civic activities throughout the commonwealth, have organized a state wide movement to stem the tide of an "impending deluge of taxation."

The group, organized as the Public Economy League of Pennsylvania, intends to serve as a "vigilante committee" against what was termed "future depredations against the Pennsylvania taxpayers' pocketbook."

At a meeting in the Union League last night alleged extravagance in administration of the state's funds was denounced. Speakers said the state faces a deficit estimated at $50,000,000 for the biennium 1933-35. The group maintained that the only course left was to combine for concerted effort to keep the state's expenditures within the bounds of reason.

Isaac A. Pennypacker, law partner of former Senator George Wharton Pepper, was chosen chairman of the group's executive committee.

On the roster of the executive committee are Frank P. Benjamin of Scranton; F. B. Dorsett of Mansfield; John A. McCarthy and Dr. J. Norman Henry of Philadelphia and Frank Wilbur Main of Pittsburgh.

Pittsburghers Get State Appointments

HARRISBURG, Feb. 2.—Joseph H. Young of Pittsburgh, today was named chief of the statistical division in the Department of Labor and Industry by Gov. Gifford Pinchot. Mary C. Kelly, of McKees Rocks, was appointed a stenographer in the Department of Revenue, and Q. David Hershey, of Pittsburgh, an assistant in the Department of Public Instruction.

Know Him?

HELD FOR HIS CHECKS

This is I. Mellon, alias D. W. Liner, alias H. M. Meller, captured after a Dormont chase by Police Chief Ralph Miller, who hopes that people that see this picture can identify the subject as a check-passer.

CHECK SUSPECT HELD HERE

Said to be a check artist of national reputation, I. Mellon, alias D. W. Wiler, alias H. M. Meller, 60, of Cleveland, is in the Dormont jail today held for court on charges of writing bad checks.

He was captured after a chase of several blocks last night by Chief Ralph Miller on complaint of Charles B. Boyd, 2923 West Liberty avenue, whom he is alleged to have given a worthless check as deposit on a clothing order last October. Boyd recognized the man when he entered his shop yesterday.

According to Chief Miller, McKees Rocks police have a warrant for Mellon's arrest on a similar charge.

STATE COUNCIL FIGHTS RATES ON COAL

Trade Loss in High Freight Charges Cited; Plans to Help Industry Pushed

Charles Reitell, director of the Greater Pennsylvania Council, announced today a campaign of the council to arouse Pennsylvania to the injustice and loss of business and employment involved in present soft coal freight rates. The industrial committee of the Council yesterday approved soft coal studies and six other industrial projects designed to help industries and provide employment for workers of the state.

Reitell, who has worked on coal problems 11 years, will make a personal study of the bituminous situation.

EXCELLED BY W. VA.

Last year West Virginia went ahead of Pennsylvania in the production of soft coal, he pointed out, producing 99,000,000 tons to Pennsylvania's 97,000,000. In 1920 West Virginia produced 89,000,000 tons and Pennsylvania 166,000,000.

The Interstate Commerce Commission's recent decision against any change in lake cargo rates has shown the necessity of a statewide fight, Reitell said.

W. A. Hamor, of Mellon Institute, chairman of the council's technical advisory committee, explained that the seven projects presented for the state council's approval were those which could be most easily and quickly worked out with satisfactory results.

The possibility that millions of tons of Pennsylvania clays will be made salable is seen in the project to rid such clays of impurities which now prevent their use.

NEW USES SOUGHT

New uses will be sought for Pennsylvania slate, and building stones will be surveyed and tested, and experiments in burning anthracite will be carried out to make greater use of smaller sizes and increase their marketability.

The state's reserves of iron ore and chromite will be surveyed, in anticipation of exhaustion of the northwestern ore beds from which the steel industry is supplied, and a study of two industrial regions—Johnstown and the Lehigh Valley—will be undertaken to find out for which industries they are best fitted.

All projects adopted will be completed within 16 months.

The industrial committee met yesterday in the office of Vice President L. E. Young, of Pittsburgh Coal Company, its chairman. The public information committee, headed by Tom Nokes, of Johnstown, its chairman, meets today in the council's offices in Harrisburg.

Club Hears Lecture On Western Parks

Randall L. Jones, member of the Utah State Board of Parks, last night gave an illustrated lecture on the Bryce, Zion and Grand canyons before members of the Civic Club from the North Side and North Boroughs at the Manchester Center, 1522 Chateau street.

It is possible to go from Pittsburgh into the western canyon country over excellent roads, he said. Tonight Mr. Jones is scheduled to talk at the home of Mrs. J. G. Pontefract, in Shields, and tomorrow night at the public school in Thornburg.

Woman's Death Leap Laid to Ill Health

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 2.—(INS.)—Fear that she would become a burden to her husband and son, due to a nervous breakdown, was attributed as the reason a 35-year-old mother plunged to her death from the eleventh floor of a hotel here. The victim was Mrs. Alberta Bardeleben. She lived near the hotel.

Police said it was her second suicide attempt, the first effort having been frustrated on December 16, when she hurled herself in front of a subway train.

Elks Told to Join In Prosperity Drive

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—(AP.)—A special manifesto addressed to 1,600 Elk lodges throughout the country, calling upon the more than 700,000 members to unite in a campaign for economic recovery, was made public last night.

In the manifesto, John R. Coen, grand exalted ruler, said the present situation was an "emergency as great as war" and called for a mobilization of men and money to spread confidence.

ADMITS AIDING KILLERS; FREED

Nesbit Wilkins, Negro, was given a suspended sentence by Judge Elder W. Marshall, in Criminal Court, when he pleaded guilty to being an accessory after the fact of murder. He was alleged to have harbored his son, Demmie Wilkins, and Charles Ricks and John Franklin, Negroes, who shot Policeman James Hughes in the Hill district, December 27, 1929. The first two named are serving life terms in the penitentiary, while Franklin has never been caught.

Wilkins testified he had gone to Mississippi to locate Franklin after the shooting, and found him, but said he escaped while Wilkins was arranging to get a warrant for him authorized by the District Attorney's office. It was for this reason that the Judge suspended sentence.

Oakland Man Wills $1,000 to Church

An estate valued at more than $50,000 was disposed of by the will of Alexander J. Wurts, of Oakland. Each domestic servant in his employ was left $100, the total not to exceed $600. The Church of Our Father, Hulls Cove, Me.; two nieces, Florence Wurts, of Australia, and Mrs. Henrietta Ruxton, of Evanston, Ill., and a nephew, John J. Wurts, of Chicago, were each left $1,000, with the remainder left as a life trust for testator's wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Reed Wurts, to be divided after her death among their children and relatives.

EASIEST WAY TO BREAK UP A COLD

Millions Say of This Proved Way

Works Fast—Makes You Feel Like a New Person Before You Know It

If you want quick relief from a cold, go back to first principles and use something you know does the business—don't start "trying" a lot of fancy ideas or remedies. Even a "little" cold is too dangerous to take chances on.

Get Hill's Cascara Quinine. A scientific formula made to do ONE THING WELL: to knock a cold in a jiffy, not to cure a hundred different things.

Take two tablets every three hours. Drink lots of water between times — that's all. Soon those mean, aching pains in head and body begin to go; the cold breaks up; poisons leave your system. Almost before you know it, you feel like a new person.

If it doesn't do that, your money back. Get a box now. You'll be surprised at the speed with which it works. Costs only a few cents.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years, and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated olive-colored tablets. They help cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling — sick headache — torpid liver—constipation, you should find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets.

Gray Hair

Best Remedy is Made At Home

To half pint of water add one ounce bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and one-fourth ounce of glycerine. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. It imparts color to streaked, faded or gray hair and makes it soft and glossy. Barbo will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off.

Things I Never Noodle Now

(And how it burns up some people)

That in New York every year—there are almost 60,000 marriages and 125,000 births—which makes columning easier than you think.

That Cal Coolidge never was Governor of a State.

That a lotta local cops until very recently—and perhaps still do—carried papier mache clubs. (Oh yeah? Then see Ex-Deputy Inspector Cahalane's book on policemen. Page 33. E. P. Dutton Co.)

That if you are in good health and you refuse a cop's request for aid in an arrest—then you may be pinched yourself.

That the correct way to spell Brooklyn is Brueckelen.

That Hawaii has a black eye over the Massie murder which took place in Honolulu which isn't in Hawaii. (Oh look at the map!).

That among other ironies is the fact that 5,000 American lives in Shanghai are menaced by the Japs. The bitter irony is apparent when you learn that $422,000,000 in American coin is invested in Jap Gov't bonds—most of which went towards the purchase of arms.

That when you ask a Bendonim how many children he has—he tells you how many sons he has.

That kosher meat in not kosher—unless pre-salted.

That the one and only similarity between Frankenstein (the film, and Mrs. Shelley's book—as in the titles.

That the N. Y. theater programs are wrong in placing the local pop, at 10 or 11 millions. N. Y. has about 12½.

That one phony in Chicago scans the obituary columns. Then goes out to the late gent's home and bums the Mrs. or family for his clothes. The idea was stolen from the Salvation Army.

That some perfumes are made from castor oil.

By HARRISON CARROLL

(Copyright 1932 by King Features Syndicate)

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 2.

Creighton Chaney will use his own name on the screen, but in one respect he follows in his father's footsteps.

His first part will be in a horror story, the one Merian Cooper and Edgar Wallace are working on.

David Selznick, who put the young man under contract, agreed with Irving Thalberg that it would be a mistake to use the name, Lon Chaney, Jr. Lon's memory is too dear to fans to be traded on. It would prove more of a boomerang than an aid to his son.

Marlene Dietrich

Creighton Chaney is 24 years old and is 6 feet 2 inches tall. He has rugged features like his father. Until recently, he was in the plumbing business.

Her new picture in the final stages of cutting, Marlene Dietrich will enjoy a six-weeks vacation before she again faces the camera.

At that time, nothing intervening, she will do an original story by Jules Furthman. The heroine is a cafe singer and her adventures sift from New York to the Middle West and then back to New York. It will be the first time she has appeared in a picture with an American locale.

In this business, of course, nothing is absolutely certain. For instance, Paramount is said to have purchased John Colton's story, "East River," with the mysterious Marlene in mind. According to my informant, however, the Furthman story has the inside track.

Come what may, Marlene will not make any more trips to Germany until the conclusion of her Paramount contract. This takes place towards the end of the year.

NO LAUGHING MATTER

Now that Edward R. Tinker is the big gun at Fox, the Hollywood wise-crackers are referring to Movietone City as the new "Tinker Toy."

SNAPSHOTS OF PREMIERE

If Greta Garbo attended the Hollywood premiere of "Mata Hari" she wore a disguise—and a better one than dark glasses. Her glamorous rivals, though, were well represented. Tallulah Bankhead arrived early in company with Adrian, fashion designer for Paramount. Then just as the lights were turned out in the theater I saw Marlene and Josef Von Sternberg make an inconspicuous entrance. Only a few nights before, Marlene's own new picture, "Shanghai Express" had received its first preview.

Tullulah Bankhead.

Barring Greta, most of the important stars in Hollywood turned out for "Mata Hari." Some interesting couples I noted were: The newlyweds, Sharon Lynn and Barney Glazer; Dorothy Burgess and Clarence Brown (they may or may not be engaged); Mary Philbin and Milton Golden and Sylvia Sidney and Stanley Smith.

Also saw Juanite Hansen, one-time Sennett star. She's much plumper now. One of the biggest hands of the evening went to Tom Mix, who wore his customary white stetson.

Though most of Hollywood has forgotten it, Greta Garbo did appear at one premiere. It was at the Forum Theater and she came with Jack Gilbert. The two were almost mobbed.

Sees World!

Csikos Derby Is Won by Cupid

By GEORGE SEIBEL

To the Hungarian plains known as the Pussta, the heroine of "Two Hearts in Waltz Time" takes her piquant charm in the picture romance at the German Cinema this week. It is called "The Csikos-Baroness"—the Csikos being the cowboys of that horsey country. The Baroness has won the races every year but this year she loses to a stranger who is riding for a certain count whom the Baroness detests though she doesn't know him.

George Seibel

After much festivity and expert mixing of cocktails, a wild horse-race and a csardas danced almost as wildly, the identity of the strange csikos is revealed, and we see Gretl Theimer happy in the arms of Paul Vincenti.

The shorter features include a very fine travelogue of Peking and a dramatic rendition of Tschaikowsky's "1812" overture.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.

PEPSODENT ANTISEPTIC is 3 times as powerful as any other leading mouth washes. Hence it goes 3 times as far. That's economy for you! Why waste money on antiseptics that must be used full strength to be effective?

EVERYBODY is trying to stretch the dollar—so here's a way to make your mouth wash dollar stretch as far as three. Change to the new discovery—Pepsodent Antiseptic. You see Pepsodent Antiseptic is three times as powerful as other leading mouth washes—by adding water you make it go three times as far—get three times as much for your money—get extra protection against sore throat colds—also against the social evil of unpleasant breath. When you pick your mouth antiseptic you have two leading kinds from which to choose. You have the mouth wash that must be used full strength to be effective. Or you have Pepsodent Antiseptic that is powerful enough to be diluted and still be effective, yet is utterly safe when used full strength. Add two parts of water if you wish—it still kills germs in less than 10 seconds. You can't fool germs by diluting an old-type mouth wash that should be used full strength—but you can fool yourself. Be safe—be saving. Insist on Pepsodent Antiseptic that remains effective when diluted. Health, pleasant breath and economy—three things that mean a lot to you.

BAD BREATH (Halitosis)

The amazing results of Pepsodent Antiseptic in fighting sore throat colds proves its effectiveness in checking Bad Breath (Halitosis). Remember, Pepsodent Antiseptic is 3 times more powerful in killing germs than other leading mouth antiseptics. Remember, it kills germs even when diluted with water!

Among them will be the annual tea-dance to be given by the Woman's Auxiliary of the Pittsburgh Hospital. The scene of the benefit will be the Hotel Schenley ballroom. Because of the threatened loss of state aid and the increase of free admission at the hospital, the auxiliary members are working more zealously than ever to interest folk in the benefit tea-dance.

Miss Mary Hacket is general chairman, assisted by members of the board.

The bridesmaids include, besides Virginia Thaw, Aydrey Maynard, Electra Webb, Barbara Phipps, who is also well-known by Pittsburgh's "400," Kitty Wickes, Helen Kellogg, Nancy Fincke and Evelyn Burden Dows, all of New York.

Paul N. Nitze, of Chicago, will be best man, and Frederick Winthrop, Jr., of Boston; Morton C. Eustis, of Washington; Douglas Robinson, James Lawrence Pool, Howard G. Cushing, Stephen Van Rensselaer, II., John Watts and C. J. Ryan, Jr., all New Yorkers, will be ushers.

2 Plays Added to Drama Program at Blind School

Two plays by Carroll H. Fitzhugh, first vice-president of the Pittsburgh Drama League, have been added to the Drama Week program which will be given Friday evening in the Western Pennsylvania School for the Blind, under the direction of Mrs. Lane Thompson.

"The Cough," a sparkling dialogue showing how a reconciliation is effected after a lovers' quarrel, will be given by Miss Lillian Dawson and Howard Eulenstein, and "May and December," a comedy based on an amusing mistake in identity, will be presented by three drama students of Carnegie Tech. Miss Olivia Kelly, Mrs. Annabel Kempton Confer and William Roose, assisted by James W. Macfarlane, a league director.

The final number on the program will be "The Vanishing Princess," by John Golden, the cast for which is Miss Mary Clancy, Rishel Brungart, Howard Eulenstein and Ray E. Hurd.

Lane Thompson will act as stage manager, and the committee on properties will consist of Mrs. Albert Pettit, Mrs. Philip H. Rinehart, Mrs. Thomas C. Clifford, and Miss Lois Clifford. Also in observance of Drama Week, Ray E. Hurd will broadcast one of his own plays Saturday evening.

Dr. Squire Cites Tremendous Cost Of Crime, Gives Causes, Cures In 20th Century Talk

The talk given yesterday before the Twentieth Century Club by Dr. Amos O. Squire, Sing Sing prison physician, was so replete with human interest as to make a brief resume a difficult task. That he held his big audience a half-hour beyond the close of his actual lecture is alone proof of the interest he created. In as admirably constructed a talk as the club has had in many moons, Dr. Squire discussed crime in general and cited causes and preventives.

Criminal machinery, which is only a small part of the total, alone costs more than $1,000,000,000 a year in this country, and more than 500,000 persons passed through corrective institutions last year, Dr. Squire said. Among the crime causes mentioned were too many laws (which creates disrespect for all law); placing youthful offenders in institutions with seasoned criminals; motion pictures which show murders being committed; playing up of crime news in the papers, and what he termed "plain, professional criminals," or pyschopathic cases.

Dr. Squire stated his case against criminal punishment, saying it does not deter murder; it sometimes prevents convictions, and since many people do not mind dying, capital punishment is too easy as compared with a life of work in secluded, unfamiliar surroundings. Also Dr. Squire questioned the moral right of capital punishment.

Deportation of alien criminals; the probation system, which, he says, is worth all it costs; support of character-building organizations such as Boy and Girl Scouts and companionship with one's own children, especially on the part of fathers, were among the preventives enumerated. Incidentally Dr. Squire said he had never known a Boy Scout to be sent to prison. He told many moving stories of cases which have come under his observation.

Aspinwall Activities

What with sauerkraut suppers, an evening of drama, departmental luncheons, a Washington bicentennial meeting, the regular club session and a few other events, the Aspinwall Woman's Club is beginning a busy month. The literature and arts department opens the month today with a post-luncheon program on Russia. A new activity will be inaugurated tonight when an Americanization class will be organized under the direction of Mrs. John Konstanzer. This Saturday evening and again on the twentieth the clubhouse will be open to the young people of the community for dancing.

The evening of drama will be offered by the evening department next Monday and the sewing set for next Tuesday belongs to the home economics department. Teachers of the Aspinwall schools have been invited to the sauerkraut supper, which is an activity of the educational department and is set for the sixteenth. The regular club session on the eighteenth will be addressed by Benjamin McClure, of the University of Pittsburgh, who will speak on "How to Get More Pleasure From the Theater," Mrs. H. P. McKown will sing.

The Bicentennial program dated for February 25, will be under auspices of the club and the American Legion and will be presented in the high school.

One of the most important events of the year for the Monaca Woman's Club was the mother and daughter banquet held last night in the Penn-Beaver Hotel. Mrs. James I. Chalfant, district president; Mrs. P. A. Fernsler, president of the Beaver Valley Federation, and Cyrus Hungerford, cartoonist of the Post-Gazette. Mrs. Margaret Kaye Estep was soloist and Mrs. D. C. The Women's Press Club will celebrate its forty-first anniversary with a dinner in the College Club on Saturday evening, February 13.

A writer must have good writing habits and industry if he is to succeed, Jacqueline Jackson Grady told the club yesterday. This pretty, young Pittsburgher, who has sold 30,000 words to magazines in the last two years, and is now at work on a book, began writing when she was 12 years of age, but buried her first effort amid tears under a rose bush. Mrs. Grady considers fiction "good schooling" for more permanent things.

CLEVER DESIGNING LINKS JACKETS TO THE ENSEMBLE

Sketched in Paris

Paris Bureau,
Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Feb. 1. — Every Jill must have a jacket with her new spring frock if it is to be a grand success. Of course, the jacket is sometimes a long coat, especially when it comes to the ensembles that are so liked just now. But it is jackets and nothing but in the evening, when the younger set, almost to a girl, steps out wearing some sort of jacket, however brief, with her frock. Mostly the jackets are of the same material as the frock and what they lack in length they make up in chic. But to put back to the frock with its coat, that does not match in color or material and yet manages to show that it is the soul-mate of the accompanying frock. As we have previously pointed out, subtle details are generally used on both garments to link them together, and sometimes a spot of color or the same type of trimming is used, so that the coat and frock may constitute an ensemble. A study of such an ensemble is a liberal education in the fine art of designing and dressmaking as pursued by the leading houses.

TODAY WE SHOW an ensemble from Maggy Rouff's latest collection, a good object lesson in the study of the ensemble that has a coat and frock almost unrelated so far as hue and fabric are concerned, and yet enables one to see that the garments each complement the other. The dress is in very pale grey satin with a greenish tinge. The double off-shoulder yoke makes a becoming top to the wide sleeve which narrows into a snug wristline midway below the elbow. The outer side of the sleeve is slashed and through the slits is laced a twist of satin. This idea is repeated at one side of the neckline, as the twist of the material is the continuation of the softly draped collar seen at the opposite side. The belt is of black lace with a strass buckle. The coat is of black diagonal woolen with a deep shawl collar and sleeve tops of astrakan. Black cloth puffed wide over the elbow makes the lower half of the sleeve. Piecings at either side give a slight flare. These have the form of vertical panels set into the skirts of the coat, slightly wider at the hem than at the top.

DEATH BLOCKS MARRIAGE SUIT

CHICAGO, Feb. 2.—(AP.)—Death has halted annulment proceedings brought by Herbert Wells, in which he sought to invalidate the marriage of his brother, Theodore B. Wells, 92, former Kingston (R. I.) banker, to Miss Anna B. Naylor, 47-year-old nurse.

When the case was called the court was informed Theodore had died last Friday. Attorneys representing Herbert, who is 82, maintained Theodore's death did not alter the case, but the court continued the hearing until February 15.

Herbert Wells charged Miss Naylor eloped with Theodore in order to benefit from $60,000 he inherited from his first wife. The suit charged she squandered a large part of the inheritance soon after her marriage.

To End a Cough In a Hurry, Mix This at Home

To quickly end stubborn coughs due to colds, it is important to soothe the inflamed membranes, get rid of the germs and also to aid the system in its fight to help throw off the trouble. For these purposes, here is a home-made medicine, far better than anything you could buy at 3 times the cost. From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle and add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to fill up the pint. This takes but a moment, mixes nothing, and makes a remedy so effective that you will never do without, once you have used it. Keeps perfectly, and children like it.

This simple remedy does three necessary things. First, it loosens the germ-laden phlegm. Second, it soothes away the inflammation. Third, it is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. This explains why it brings such quick relief, even in the obstinate coughs which follow cold epidemics.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest medicinal agents for severe coughs and bronchial irritations.

HAWAII REFORM PLANS READY

HONOLULU, Feb. 2.—(AP.)—Hawaii's legislative reform program virtually was completed today before trial dates had been set for two major crimes which were primary factor, leading to the calling of the special session.

The trial of Mrs. Granville Fortescue, New York and Washington, D. C. society woman, and her three naval co-defendants, probably will be set for several weeks hence, after the four plead Friday to second degree murder charges for the lynching of Joseph Kahahawai.

The second trial of the four men accused with Kahahawai, a native, of attacking Mrs. Thomas H. Massie, Mrs. Fortescue's daughter, is also to be set soon. The first jury disagreed.

Meanwhile the Legislature has added death to the penalties for attack, removed the requirement for corroborative testimony in such cases, and reorganized the Honolulu Police Department.

CAPONE FACES ESCAPE QUIZ

CHICAGO, Feb. 2.—(AP.)—The threat of a grand jury investigation once more has disturbed the jail sojourn of "Scarface Al" Capone—this time to determine if he engineered the escape of one of his henchmen from the county jail Sunday.

Officials contended last night there were marked touches of Capone technique in the manner in which Neil Montague, his reputed lieutenant, held in a $500,000 midwest kidnaping plot, walked to freedom in the clothes of his brother, Russell, under the eyes of guards.

A grand jury investigation was ordered by Chief Justice Harry M. Fisher, of the Criminal Court, immediately after he learned yesterday that the pass on which Russell entered the jail to visit Neil had been mysteriously removed from official files after having been canceled.

Pennsylvania Leads With Jobs on Roads

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—(AP.)—Pennsylvania is setting an example for the remainder of the nation in employment of men on highway construction.

For the third successive month, the Keystone state was reported today by the President's relief organization to be using more workers on road building than any other state. The number in December totaled 26,489.

PLAN NEW TEST TO SAVE BABY

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—(AP.)—Further tests to determine whether an operation might save 13-month-old Diane Moore from death or a life of idiocy as a result of an subnormal brain cavity probably will be made today, Dr. O. A. Spier said.

The brain specialist said he had not yet seen X-ray pictures of the baby's skull made at the medical center, which were reported to have shown an operation would do no good.

Dr. Spier acknowledged the possibility the girl might be a mongoloid, or congenital idiot type, in which case an operation would be futile, but said such a condition would not be definitely established by X-rays.

He previously had expressed the opinion the child's skull had hardened prematurely, a condition that might be remedied by an operation.

By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER

Our share of the Chinese war will be the burden of correspondence.

We are speeding up production of diplomatic notes and official memoranda. The war is going to be won by the letter carriers.

The dollar-a-year men will work for fifty two-cent postage stamps.

No Japanese is going to scare the White House with a threat that has been in the mail three weeks.

And that goes double. The mikado will not be frightened by last year's mail order catalogues.

The conflict is so far away that we aren't even bothering about thinking up a new patriotic name for rice and chop suey.

That distance cancels fear was proved by the managing editor when his reporter telephoned in and said a prospective interviewer had thrown him down the front steps four times.

The managing editor said: "Go back there again and tell him he can't intimidate me."

Protest 'Rich Men' On Highway Jobs

READING, Pa., Feb. 2.—(AP.)—Protest against "men of wealth" being given jobs in the State Highway Department instead of jobless and needy citizens, will be made to Gov. Pinchot by the Reading Unemployment Relief Board, it was decided at a meeting last night.

Ernest B. Posey, Republican County Commissioner, told the board he knows of three men "whose wealth is fairly estimated at from $40,000 to $60,000, who have been given positions working on the state roads in this county."

PLANE TO FIGHT MAD TRAPPER

EDMONTON, Alberta, Feb. 2.—(Universal.)—Albert Johnson, the maniac slayer of a Royal Canadian mounted policeman, was besieged by a heavily armed posse at his improvised barricade and fort 30 miles up the mouth of the Rat River in the Northwest territory.

Johnson, a trapper of long experience and deadly aim, brought down Constable Edgar Millen as his second victim in the weeks of dramatic pursuit through the frozen wastes of the northland. The officer died within a few minutes. His first victim, Constable A. W. King, is recovering from wounds he received from the trapper's rifle December 31.

Details of the killing of Millen, who was advancing to the trapper's barricade to "get his man" were brought to Edmonton by a wireless from Aklavik. Reinforcements are being rushed to the lonely spot up the Rat River and an airplane has been pressed into service.

HOLDUP DENIED IN BANK TRIAL

Thomas D. Byrne, cashier, and his nephew, Frank F. Byrne, bookkeeper and director of the former Broadway National Bank of Scottdale, are on trial before Federal Judge R. M. Gibson, charged with embezzlement and misapplication of funds of the bank, and entering false records. About $43,000 was involved, according to the indictment.

Charles H. Loucks, president of the First National Bank of Scottdale, first government witness, identified records of the Broadway National Bank absorbed by the bank of which he is president. Other witnesses were called to identify documentary evidence.

Assistant United States Attorney James I. Marsh, in his opening address, said the government will seek to disprove an alleged holdup in the bank by bandits. The robbery was alleged to have occurred December, 1930. The defendants are represented by Attorneys John Duggan and E. C. Higbee. Assistant United States Attorney John A. McCann is assisting Attorney Marsh.

Mr. Morris

The principal address "Transportation — Its Maximum and Minimum Regulation," will be delivered by Julien M. Eysmans, vice president of the Pennsylvania Railroad. Charles Milton Newcomb, humorist and psychologist, also will speak.

Salesman Accuses Wife of Death Plot

GREENSBORO, N. C., Feb. 2.—(AP.)—W. E. French, traveling salesman, lying near death from bullet wounds, told police last night his wife led him into a trap so another man might shoot him, and that they then tried to drive over his prostrate body as they drove off in his car.

Officers were seeking the woman and Bert Owen, named by French as his assailant.

TRY POLITICIAN AS DOPE SELLER

James Lancia, a former Republican district chairman in the Second Ward, and Salvatore Corsella and Joe Locastro are on trial before Federal Judge Nelson McVicar, charged with violating the government narcotic laws in the North Side and Hill districts.

The first government witness, a woman who testified having purchased morphine from Corsella, said she first met Corsella in the United States Marshal's office when the men were awaiting bonds. She testified Corsella told her he could get all the morphine she wanted, and that two days later, October 19, she met him in a North Side restaurant and purchased an ounce of the drug for $65. She said she made another purchase four days later.

POOR BOARD AGAIN SEEKS LOAN FOR RELIEF

Chamber Ignores Light Rate War

POLITICS

Possibility Stadtfeld May Be On Slate

By MARK SHIELDS

There is still a possibility that the state-wide slate prepared for the Republican primary under the auspices of William S. Vare may be rewritten to include the name of Judge Joseph B. Stadtfeld for the Superior Court.

Mr. Shields

Much in this instance depends upon Mr. Pinchot.

Not that the Governor has any influence with the Vare contingent, but he has a vacancy on the Superior Court bench to fill, and he may name some jurist unsatisfactory to Vare. In that case it would not be surprising for Vare to oppose the Governor's appointee with former Lieut. Gov. Arthur James, now slated for Superior Court. He could urge that politics was not being played too openly with the bench, arguing that a Judge by appointment is not on the same footing as a Judge serving through election, and lacks the traditional claim to tenure of office.

Vare Favors James For Supreme Bench

Vare would be glad to have James on the highest court, as his admiration for the former Lieutenant Governor is warm.

Should James be the candidate for the Supreme Court the race for Superior Court Judge in the Vare esteem would then lie between Judges Stadtfeld and Robert S. Gawthrop, already on the Superior Court, and Judge MacDade, of Delaware County. Vare already has indorsed Judge Gawthrop. In view of the complexion of the slate as it now stands, Vare might consent to pick Stadtfeld. Practically every other place bears a Vare tinge, and little consideration was granted the remainder of the slate.

Therefore, even though the western end of the commonwealth has practically no coercive political power to make Vare do anything, an appeal to his generosity and sense of fair play might prove effective. At any rate, friends of Judge Stadtfeld are speculating on the possibility of James eventually being the Vare choice for the court of finality.

Judges S. John Morrow, of Fayette County, and Parker, of Venango County, are being urged on Pinchot as worthy of consideration for appointment to the Supreme bench. A group from this end of the state, outside Allegheny County, which has resolutely supported Pinchot in his past battles, advanced the name of Morrow last week in Harrisburg.

The sugegstion that Judge Linn, of the Superior Court, might be promoted and thus open the way for three Superior Court vacancies, so caring for Gawthrop, Stadtfeld and MacDade without a fight, is revival of an old suggestion first heard when Justice James B. Drew was put on the Supreme bench.

At that time some Pinchot advisers urged him to appoint Linn, but others among the Governor's friends insisted that Linn was not sufficiently progressive.

Voters Get Break On Registry Board

Dropping of Maj. E. Lowry Humes as Democratic member of the Pittsburgh Registration Commission, and the substitution of John Henry is about as good a break as the voters could expect, so long as politics is paramount in the makeup of this board. Henry will render good service, it is felt, and attempt an unprejudiced fulfillment of his duties.

Humes was under fire from the Governor's office, a fire relayed from Pittsburgh, from the time he was appointed through the influence of County Commissioner Charles C. McGovern. It was generally reported during the last primary that the activity of Maj. Humes was displeasing to Senator James J. Coyne, who has considerable influence in Harrisburg. An agent of the Governor made a special trip here to survey the ground, and, while it is understood he reported to Pinchot that he could find little fault with Humes, there were others in Harrisburg close to the Governor who did not feel the same way.

When Humes was not confirmed by the Senate at the special session it was reported in this column that he would not be reappointed, the Governor finding that he had some obligations which made it necessary now and then to ignore the recommendations of McGovern.

The shift in positions should not be taken as an evidence that in the registration office Henry will be friendly to Coyne beyond the restrictions of plain duty. Quite the opposite. It will be recalled that in the last general election Henry bolted the Democratic candidacy of Dave Lawrence for County Commissioner, a candidacy enereetically supported by the Republican city machine, and swung to the Independents.

Independents Organize For Coming Primary

L. A. Gvatsovsky, writing as secretary of the Twenty-first Ward Independent Republican organization, reports that officers have been elected and that attention will be paid to candidates in the coming legislative primary. Officers are W. A. Lippold, chairman; Mrs. Kathryn Plank, chairlady, and Mrs. Helen Staudenmaier, treasurer. District committeemen and committeewomen were appointed.

Mark Shields will talk over Station WCAE at 6:30 Thursday evening, interviewing Senator Frank J. Harris on questions of politics and government.

FUNDS LACKING FOR 16,000 FAMILIES

Directors Will Make Another Appeal to Commissioners If Bankers Refuse Request

Allegheny County's Poor Board was to make another attempt today to raise enough money, in anticipation of increased tax collections, to resume relief work among the 16,000 families on its list.

Maj. J. Clyde Miller, chairman of the board, said he and his two fellow-directors were to see representatives of a bank in an attempt to borrow the money. The families, served until the board's money ran out in December, have been thrown on the hands of the Family Welfare Association.

Failing in efforts to borrow the money, Miller said the directors may be forced to go again to the County Commissioners, to ask for help from them.

BURDEN TOO HEAVY

Miss Eleanor Hansen, general secretary of the Family Welfare Association, said:

"These 16,000 families have just been forced on our hands. We didn't make provision for them when we drew up our budget, and demands of other families have increased our cases far beyond our expectations before the Poor Board ceased its relief work. We cannot adequately care for them; we haven't the funds."

Before collapse of their finances, the Poor Directors were furnishing shoes, food and coal to thousands. Even then, for other necessities, it was learned, many of these families had to go to other agencies.

RELIEF TALK TONIGHT

Leaders in relief work in the district, meanwhile, were waiting to hear Fred K. Hoehler, Cincinnati Commissioner of Welfare, discuss the way his city handled the problem in a talk in William Penn Hotel at 8 o'clock tonight. The meeting is open to the public.

Cincinnati has been noted for its efficient handling of the problem.

32 PA. TOWNS ASK U. S. AID

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—(AP.)—Beaver Falls, Franklin and Oil City are among 25 Pennsylvania communities which have told the Senate that federal relief for the unemployed is not needed within their bounds. Thirty-two communities said relief was desired. These places included Apollo, Ellwood City, Leechburg and New Castle.

The communications were filed with the Senate yesterday by Senator LaFollette (Rep.), of Wisconsin, who made a poll of the country as to the need of federal assistance.

The LaFollette query was sent out after a similar request by Senator Davis (Rep.), of Pennsylvania, and several of the replies were in variance with information furnished Davis.

Auto Worker Burned Under Flaming Car

Sprinkled with flaming gasoline while he was repairing an automobile in the Bradley Cheese Company, 7325 Penn avenue, James Shaffer, of 1642 Banksville road, was in Columbia Hospital today with burns of the body and arms.

Police said he was under the machine making repairs when fuel that leaked from the gasoline tank was ignited by an electric spark. He was extricated by fellow workers and taken to the hospital.

COUNTY THIRD IN SPINACH

Allegheny County led the state in production of tomatoes, lettuce and cucumbers last year, according to the annual report of the Allegheny County Agricultural Extension Association being distributed today.

Secretary Henry R. Eby reported 7,351 acres with a value of $973,703 were devoted to growing vegetables for market. The county ranked second in the growth of beans, beets, cabbage and onions, while its peas, spinach and sweet corn took third place.

11th Ward Arranges Basket Distribution

Plans for the distribution of 200 more baskets of food for to the needy will be made tonight by the Eleventh Ward Republican Organization in their headquarters in Collins avenue, tonight. Councilman William J. Soost is chairman of the committee in charge and he is being assisted by Harvey A. Lowry, James Bishop, Theodore Hamilton and Louis Shoop.

Homestead to Vote On $200,000 Bonds

A bond issue for $200,000 will be presented to Homestead taxpayers in April, it was revealed at the regular monthly Council meeting last night. The issue, which will be presented in an ordinance form at next month's meeting, will provide for current borough expenses and the refunding of $70,000 of a recent $90,000 bond issue. President of Council J. M. Honse presided.

DUNN EXPLAINS ABSENCE OF PROTEST

Commerce Committes Do Not Act Until Requested by Members, President Says

The increasing wave of resentment sweeping the state against excessive public utility rates and stirring municipal and civic leaders to concerted action today found the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce without plans to join the attack.

Many municipalities bordering on the city have taken up the attack individually and through membership in the Pennsylvania Fair Rate Association. The Duquesne Heights Board of Trade has joined the movement.

DUNN EXPLAINS

President Thomas A. Dunn, of the Chamber, declared he knew of no movement within his organization. Several of the 15 outstanding committees of the Chamber could bring it before the directors, he said, holding that the organization in itself could not start action. He explained:

"Unless a protest is made to the directors, who in turn refer it to a committee for a report, such matters are dependent upon the committee members themselves to investigate and file a report. There has been no discussion on the utility rates, and I know nothing about any movement except what has been reported in the papers."

Asked if he would file a protest asking for a report, Dunn replied:

"It would not be good form as president to ask for action."

Despite Dunn's attitude, the chamber's secretary-manager, Frank Harper, said:

"If no member asks for a report and no committee would take the initiative, it would be up to the president or a member of the board to request a report."

CHAIRMAN QUIZZED

Saying he did not know which one of several committees would be directly interested in unfair utility rates, Dunn mentioned several which might act. Their chairmen answered inquiries as follows:

Inter-Community Affairs, John W. Vickerman:

"I know of no action by our committee, which has not met for some time. I have been too busy to give any attention to the matter."

Citizen's Affairs, F. J. Kress:

"I can't discuss it in this manner. It would have to be before a committee. If you would present a protest of some kind we would act upon it."

Municipal Affairs, Walter Rosenbaum:

"I don't think the committee would make a report through its own action. Usually a protest is filed because members are too busy with their own private affairs to voluntarily dig into everything. We would act if it was submitted to us."

State Legislation, Attorney H. Stewart Dunn:

"Unless it is a matter before the Legislature, it is hardly possible our committee would act. It could be brought to our attention."

Comments by the committee chairmen indicated any action would be dependent upon a protest before filed by President Dunn or a director. Any one of the 6,000 members can seek a report, Dunn said.

Stickers Given Out For Rate Protest

Stickers protesting payment to be attached to all public utility bills by patrons are being distributed by the Allied Boards of Trade, Secretary C. V. Shoup announced today. The plan calls for selling them in minimum quantities of $5 per 5,000, Shoup said. The movement first was suggested by the Brookline Board of Trade members.

BROTHER SAVES BOY FROM LAKE

John Stein, 8, of 6813 Frankstown avenue, watched the falling snow from his room today, not being allowed out. His mother feared he might take pneumonia after his dive into Silver Lake yesterday. His brother, Joseph, 12, hero of the rescue, trotted off to Sts. Peter and Paul's School.

After school yesterday the two brothers went to Silver Lake to watch others skating on the first ice to coat the lake this season. John ventured on thin ice and broke through where the pool is six feet deep. He clutched at the edge of the ice, but each time it broke. Joseph, with a stick, tried to aid him, but the ice cracked under him. Then Joseph lay flat on the ice, extended his hand and caught his brother. He worked his way back onto heavier ice until John was able to climb out.

The son, in 1922, according to the statement of claim, turned over to his father 450 shares of stock of the Selden Company, of Pittsburgh, for voting purposes, in order to give his father control of the company. The son avers the stock was not returned to him.

BOROUGHS PLAN JOB RELIEF

Lightless nights for the city of Duquesne, a wage reduction in the West Homestead Borough payroll, and bond issues to relieve indebtedness in Homestead and New Kensington, were economic measures adopted or discussed by the respective Councils last night.

A proposal for lightless nights in Duquesne, so that the money saved could be used for unemployment relief, was made before Council. City Solicitor Robert Gerdts expressed the opinion that the city's annual lighting contract barred adoption of the proposal. Diversion of city funds for relief work was being considered.

A $305,000 bond issue to relieve bonded indebtedness in Homestead Borough was voted by Council. Election will be held in April.

New Kensington, which recently placed its police department upon a four-day working basis following a previous wage reduction, was to vote today on a $400,000 bond issue to relieve indebtedness in the borough.

TRAIN'S DELAY WINS REFUND

Scores of passengers on the Pittsburgher, crack Pennsylvania railroad passenger train between New York and Pittsburgh, today were eligible for a $1.20 refund, the result of the train reaching here one hour and 21 minutes behind its schedule.

Road officials said engine trouble, which developed a short distance from Philadelphia, caused the delay.

The refunds are to be paid in accordance with an on-time guarantee of the Pennsylvania's extra-fare trains.

Scheduled to arrive at 9:20 a. m., the Pittsburgher pulled into the downtown P. R. R. station at 10:41.

This is the first time for months, officials said, it had been necessary to pay a refund.

FIRE JOB PLAN UP TO CHIEF

Fire Chief Richard L. Smith's failure to confer with a committee of the Firemen's Protective Association has delayed the possible reinstatement of 98 pensioned firemen, the committee told City Council late yesterday.

The committee, headed by President John Heinz, told Council it had developed a plan whereby the pensioned firemen could be placed on the payroll again without great cost or loss of time of 893 other firefighters. The plan, it was said, was developed in collaboration with City Accountant Harold S. Breitenstein.

When Heinz told Council President John S. Herron the committee had been unable to see Chief Smith, the matter was held over until Smith affirmed or approved the plan.

TELL IT TO SALLY -:- -:- Follow This Unusual Feature Day by Day -:- -:- By SALLY MARTIN

Do Girls Prefer Rough Boy Friends or Meek Ones?

Do gals like "Cave Men"?

Or would they rather have the boy friend meek 'n' mild?

Rufe would like to know. The question bothers him. He's heard quite a lot lately, on both sides. He's seen Vic McLaglen 'n' Clark Gable yank 'em around—and apparently make 'em like it—in the movies.

'N' he's read where Ladies Like Brutes.

But—he's not quite sure that that's the right dope. So being that he's just a young fellow trying to get along he'd like to have some of his gals give him the lowdown.

"Dear Sally:

"Just what kind of a fellow do girls like?

"Maybe I'd better explain myself a little more. I am a young man of 19. Naturally I would like to go with girls which I haven't done much yet. I went with one for a while and tried to be nice as I could to her. I let her have her own way most of the time. I wanted her to enjoy going around with me. For a while everything went fine. And then she ditched me for a fellow who bosses her around and takes her where he wants to go.

IS PUZZLED

"That got me thinking. Should I have bossed her instead of being so 'easy-going'? It looks like maybe I should. Do you think so? Do you think she'd still be going with me if I had? I'd like to know because this worries me.

"I read an article in a newspaper the other day that said that was why Victor McLaglen and Clark Gable were so popular. That they simply thrilled the girls because they had some sort of 'menace' about them. Because they were 'Cave Men.'

"Then I've heard a lot of talk about modern women liking to be their own bosses and not taking so kindly to fellows who tried to make them step around to suit them instead of the girl.

WANTS THE TRUTH

"I wish some of the girls would put me right on this question. It has me all up in the air. I've heard so many different ideas on the subject that I don't know what to think. So I've decided I'd go to headquarters and ask the girls themselves.

I hope they will be willing to tell me. Tell me just what kind of a fellow they really do like and admire. It doesn't seem sensible to me somehow to think they would honestly prefer to be bossed around and treated with little if any consideration, but according to some so-called 'expert opinions' that's what they do like. However these opinions seem to be put forward by men . . . so I'm wondering.

Please help me out. I'm all in a muddle and I need some straight dope. "RUFUS."

Well Gals how about it?

Of course nobody likes a Door Mat . . . but as for Bossy Bozos so far as I'm concerned, they're just a pain in the neck.

But maybe you Prefer 'Em Rough? Maybe you thrill to a Cave Man. Maybe Menace spells Romance to you.

Come on! Give us the dope!

Understanding Is Life's Greatest Power for Good, Declares Fay King

SHE IS NO LONGER A CHILD OF OURS!
HOW COULD THEIR LOVE FOR ME CHANGE SO SUDDENLY?
FAY KING

By FAY KING

To my mind, the greatest mistake that parents can possibly make is to close their hearts to a child who has married against their wishes.

For whatever reason this marriage may be so distasteful to them, no good has ever been accomplished by bitterness and resentment.

If the door of that home which has always seemed the one refuge of love and understanding is shut in the face of a child where can that child turn?

Parents do not hesitate to stand by children in the face of graver trouble than mis-marriage.

How much better to stand by that child with the same unchanging love that God and nature meant should be everlasting between parents and children.

Understanding is life's greatest power for good.

Dicky Is Slow to Believe Madge's Explanation

I felt like sounding a trumpet note of triumph for danger past as Dicky asked me if I meant him to believe that my "subconscious mind" had dictated all this "rot." Despite the heavy sarcasm with which his voice was imbued, I knew that I had succeeded in convincing him of my innocence of intent, as far as the offending lines in my play were concerned. But there remained between us an insuperable and ugly barrier. Stripped to the bone, the fact that the role of Vickers in my play had some of Dicky's mannerisms and phraseology, lay starkly between us.

"I mean you to believe just that," I said sturdily. "The lines are there. I dictated them, and I can see now why you have a right to object to them. But I had no thought whatever of you when I uttered them."

"Which makes it about a thousand times worse for me," he said, heavily. "If you had written them consciously it would have been because you were angry at me and were taking it out in the cleverest way you knew. But the subconscious dope—is that what you really think of me?"

"No, no, no," I stormed. "You know better than that. There is no question of my thinking you're anything like this Vickers. It's only that I have unconsciously paraphrased some of the awfully clever things you so often say."

Dicky gave a short unpleasant laugh.

"Thanks for the white turnips," he said, "but I'm not cooking stew today. I can't stir up a particle of vanity over having my spiels called clever. All I can see is the rather disheartening fact that my wife sees that in me which enables her to draw a character like this loathsome buffoon, Vickers."

I dropped the manuscript papers, reckoning nothing that they scattered over the desk and floor, and caught Dicky's head tightly in my arms as if I were protecting him from physical blows.

"Stop it!" I said fiercely. "I won't have you saying those dreadful things about yourself—and me. I know what I think of you. You have no right to credit me with thoughts that I never had. Please don't be so cruel, Dicky. You'll drive me out of my mind if you persist in this ridiculous fancy."

For the fraction of a second he fought my clasping arms, trying to twist his head out of my embrace. If I had not felt the desperate need to exorcise from his mind the specter which my unfortunate subconscious delineation of the character, Vickers, had evoked, I should have been so chilled by that repulsion that I should have released him instantly. There was but one thought obsessing me, however. My husband must not believe that I saw any trace of him in this character of Vickers whom, incidentally, I was beginning to loathe.

So I only clasped his dear head the more tightly, making it impossible for him to release himself without using actual force, and after a second or two he became quiet and I had the comforting intuition that he was as glad to rest against me as I was to hold him.

"You don't believe that of me, Dicky, do you?" I whispered. "You know how I love and revere you."

His lips twisted into an involuntary grin, and I knew the country was safe.

"Don't get your verbs twisted, old dear," he said. "I accept the 'love,' but the 'revere' is a trifle too thick. You don't revere' me a penny's worth. If you do, you need the services of an alienist."

"We won't discuss that," I told him loftily. "I'm not a feminist, but I think I have a right to name my own emotions. But we haven't time to think of that now. There's something far more important for us to consider."

"For instance?" Dicky's tone was quizzical.

"What's to be done about this character, Vickers?" I countered.

"What do you mean?" Dicky was plainly startled. "There's nothing can be done now. It's almost time for old Veritzen to arrive. You're all ready for him and, in passing, let me assure you that I agree with Lil. You've done a mighty unusual piece of work with the possible exception of this poisonous swine, Vickers. But you can't help that now."

"Can't I?" I said defiantly. "Of course, I won't be able to change the act before Mr. Veritzen gets here, but I can delete all these speeches of Vickers and tell Mr. Veritzen I've decided to cut that character out of the cast."

Into Dicky's eyes came the light that never was on sea or land.

"Do you mean that you would do that for me?" he asked, huskily.

Household Hints

Soak new stiff-bristled brooms in salt and water for a few hours before using. This stiffens the bristles and prevents their coming out.

Yolks of eggs which have been separated from the whites and cannot be used at once will keep fresh if placed in a saucer and covered with cold water.

Do not use baking powder in pastry that has to be kept for any length of time, but increase the quantity of fat, which will prevent it from becoming too dry.

-:- Correct Manners -:-

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Both Correct

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Will you please settle this question? "I wear my purse," or "I carry my purse?"

I will be glad if you settle this question and give us full particulars concerning this problem. ROSE.

This is the same kind of question as to whether a man "carries" his walking stick or "wears" his walking stick. The verb "wear," used in this way, implies that the walking stick, for a man, or the purse, for a woman, is part of the ensemble, and a good connotation it is, too. So either verb is correct. Usually, however, we do say "carry" and we shall always be correct if we do say this.

Gift to the Doctor

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. Is it proper for a patient to give the family doctor a present for his second wedding? He is also a very good friend.

2. Please suggest what gift, if any? S.

1. It is indeed entirely proper for us to give our doctor, if he is a friend of ours, a wedding present. Of course, however, the present is sent to his fiancee, in her name and to her home.

2. The gift would best be something not too personal. A pair of book-ends would, for instance, be a good gift, or a desk portfolio, a handsome leather one. Or a beautifully bound book. Or a desk set. Or a lovely vase, silver or crystal. Or a good-looking and useful smoking accessory.

Contract Bridge -:- OFFICIAL SYSTEM As Adopted by Leading Authorities

By E. V. SHEPARD

Quick Tricks

A genuine "quick trick" or "sure trick" as it is often termed, is a defensive trick that can be won before either declarer or dummy can trump the suit to which the trick belongs. Usually one or the other member of the declaring side can trump the third lead of a suit. Modern opinion is that only five values be employed, which are as follows:

A-K, 2 quick tricks. A-Q, 1½; A, 1; K-Q, 1; K with one or more small cards, ½ quick trick.

Efficient bidding is based largely upon accurate valuation of hands held. To note whether contestants gain or lose by following official methods, readers should acquaint themselves with the precise meanings of all bids, and the most accurate system of valuing holdings.

Take a pack of cards and deal four hands a few times. You will find that the average number of quick tricks held by all four hands will be 7½. That is why at least two quick tricks are required to open contracting, either as dealer or second hand. The two quick tricks are a trifle above the average share due each player.

Most of us feel that 2½ quick tricks should be held for a dealer's or second hand's opening bid, especially when holdings drop rapidly from aces and kings to lower cards. Two quick tricks are sufficient in several instances, such as having two biddable suit like K-Q-J-X-X, or having suits containing strong intermediate honors (Q's and J's), or provided a single suit is long enough and strong enough to rebid. Your partner expects an opening bid to show at least two defensive tricks against an adverse trump declaration. He may double a moderately high bid, expecting you to produce your two defensive tricks. Your partner also expects your opening bid to announce better than average support for his shift to no-trumps, unless you hold strong rebidding values and ask no trump support from him.

Opening bids by dealer or second hand require about the same values. This is true of opening bids by either third or fourth hand, although many players cling to the idea that a fourth-hand bid must be stronger than a bid by third hand. There is no reason for this, however, as in both instances the opening bidder's partner has announced lack of bidding values by his pass.

Opening bids by either third hand or fourth hand should be based upon the following quick trick values: 2½ quick tricks, if strong in both major suits; 3 quick tricks if strong in only one major suit; 3½ quick tricks, if weak in both major suits. Unless your partner holds no defensive values, the quick trick strength indicated above probably will make it impossible for an opponent to go game from a love score.

The first thing to seek when contemplating opening the bidding as dealer or second hand, are 2½ quick tricks. If only two quick tricks are held, see if some good reason exists for bidding. If quick tricks justify opening the bidding, count up your probable tricks. This will be explained tomorrow.

Many bids formerly favored at auction are not considered good opening bids by the great majority of contract experts. For example, the two hands that follow are not considered worth opening bids by most players:

♠AKQ7 ♥Q84 ♣1063 ♦642
♠872 ♥AK1086 ♣74 ♦642

Do this for Your Child in

TWO WEEKS

How to rid any boy or girl of sluggishness or constipation and build a big appetite.

The trouble with children who will not eat is usually stasis. The symptoms are a tongue that's always coated, bad breath, poor color, dull eyes that are often a jaundice yellow. No appetite, no ambition—even for play. Hard to get to sleep, hard to wake in the morning.

There's an absolute remedy for this condition. It gives listless youngsters the appetite and energies of a young animal! They eat! They gain! They keep well!

The California Treatment conquers Sluggishness

It's not the stomach, but the bowel condition that keeps children from eating. But the trouble is in the lower bowel.

The color California fig syrup is the only "movie one" needed to stimulate the colon muscles. The very next day, your child is eating better and feeling better. Keep on with the fig syrup a few days and you will see amazing improvement in appetite, color, weight and spirits.

Any druggist has the real California fig syrup, all bottled, with directions. Nature never made a nicer acting or nicer tasting laxative. (It is purely vegetable.) Remember California fig syrup when sickness, a cold or any upset has clogged a child's bowels.

WARNING

Even when it's something to give children, some stores will try to substitute. So be sure the bottle says CALIFORNIA Fig Syrup.

Her figure ...stunning

By Julia Foster★

Every movement, every posture, a delight to watch! I advanced to meet her. And stopped short, shocked! All illusion of beauty destroyed, utterly, unmercifully, by her skin. Yet a few words of advice might have made her one of the most glamorous creatures alive!

Yes, "tragic" is the word for it! Not all of us can have truly perfect figures. We all can keep lovely, youthful complexions. Only do as beauty experts tell you:

With your hands, work well into the pores of your face and throat a generous lather of Palmolive Soap and warm water. Then a thorough rinse with warm water to wash it away, followed by a cold rinse. Hot water should never touch your face. After this, in the morning, your make-up. At night, if your skin is dry, follow with oil or tissue cream.

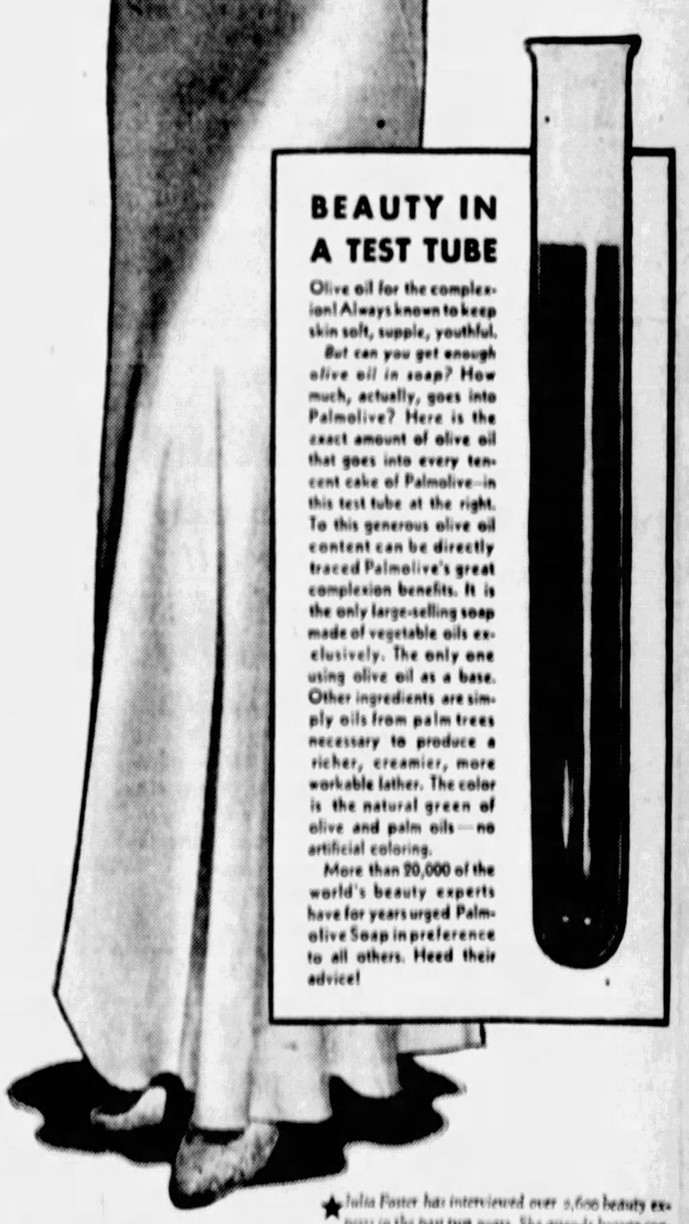
There is a very definite reason why more than 20,000 beauty experts prefer Palmolive for this foundation cleansing. It is fully explained in the panel to the right, headed: "Beauty In a Test Tube". Please read it.

Beauty, relaxation, in your bath!

Weary nerves need soothing? Experts have told me about this form of relaxation that's a beauty treatment, too:

Shave up a whole bar of Palmolive. Melt it by boiling in 4 cups of water and pour the solution into your tub. Step in and relax. Then massage your body with rich lather from another cake of Palmolive. When you get out, you'll find fatigue, nervousness, gone. Your skin will be soft and smooth, thanks to this olive and palm oil care. Some evening, when you're tempted to cancel an engagement, try this!

And start at once that twice-a-day facial treatment with Palmolive Soap. Try it for ten days, at least. What other treatment can give your skin such youthful softness?



BEAUTY IN A TEST TUBE

But can you get enough olive oil in soap? How much, actually, goes into Palmolive? Here is the exact amount of olive oil that goes into every ten-cent cake of Palmolive—in this test tube at the right. To this generous olive oil content can be directly traced Palmolive's great complexion benefits. It is the only large-selling soap made of vegetable oils exclusively. The only one using olive oil as a base. Other ingredients are simply oils from palm trees necessary to produce a richer, creamier, more workable lather. The color is the natural green of olive and palm oils—no artificial coloring.

More than 20,000 of the world's beauty experts have for years urged Palmolive Soap in preference to all others. Heed their advice!

This player is one of the leading and accepted composers in young Germany and one of her foremost concert organists. Last night he proved that an organ recital could be a very interesting event, and besides presented some of the works that have made him famous.

Mr. Lissfelt

His playing is marked by a vast imagination and a daring that are astonishing, especially when applied to the more sedate works of a Bach. In his own music he is unrestrained and adds a broad humor that comes from his theories of harmonic progression as well as his manipulation of stops. In his organ works Karg-Elert keeps close to well-established patterns and has never fallen in with any clique who make discord for its own sake. It is healthy music.

Decision Rule's Effects. Pro Football Superior.

BENEFITS AND SMOKERS HIT BY EDICT

THE ACTION OF those who, by demanding the enforcement of the letter of the law providing that all boxing bouts in Pennsylvania must be to decisions, compelled the State Athletic Commission to revoke a permit issued for Jack Dempsey to appear in an exhibition in Pittsburgh this month, will have a far reaching effect, from present indications. Instead of following what it deemed a liberal and common sense policy in the interpretation of this particular part of the state boxing code, the commission must now, perforce, apply the letter of the law in similar fashion in all other cases where an attempt is made to put on anything but a real contest.

Jack Dempsey

Benefits and club and lodge entertainments cannot include exhibition bouts between boxers, even when the latter volunteer their services. Such features as were put on here last season for Father Cox's relief fund, or as a testimonial to Loudon Campbell, or for other worthy causes, can no longer be permitted. Only bouts to decisions can be allowed, now that a precedent has been demanded and set.

IN THE PAST such exhibitions have not been questioned. In addition to the cases cited above, Max Schmeling appeared in an exhibition bout in Philadelphia. Tommy Loughran, Harry Greb and others were granted permission in Pennsylvania and other states to box no-decision affairs at smokers or benefits. The commission reasoned that to stop them would be highly technical and that it would put itself in the light of scrutinizing a law that permits for any word that would give it a chance to prohibit.

The issue, never before raised since the first commission took office in 1923, is said to have come up because one group of promoters feared a rival group was going to get Dempsey, and inferentially challenged the commission's position in granting a permit. The tough part will come when, if say, Battling Gizzy, for instance, wants to box at the Donora Moose Club to help the families of needy members. The commission, even though unwillingly, will have to rule that only bouts to decisions can be allowed. It will come in for a lot of criticism for taking a position which it will be able to say was not of its choosing.

IT IS SAID for the commissioners that when they first granted permission to Dempsey to appear in a four-round no-decision exhibition here they judged that course to be safer than allowing the promoters to make a pretense that it was going to be a real contest.

For, obviously, Dempsey wasn't going to meet a leading challenger for four rounds, and it was figured that a four-round exhibition to no decision, and advertised only as such, would in no way mislead that part of the public which appears eager to see him in such affairs. The outcome shows why so many commissions are so technical and so bound up in red tape. If they try to be liberal or to use common sense, somebody finds that it conflicts with the letter, not the spirit, of the law. Then, to be consistent, they must make the same rule apply to all cases, and it doesn't always serve the popular purpose.

NO DOUBT THE commission would also welcome a change in that other part of the law which gives it, technically, control of boxing at the colleges and schools. For example, the present law, which the makers probably never dreamed would include the colleges and schools in its scope, provides that children under 16 cannot attend boxing shows. On the occasion of the Pitt-West Virginia basketball game in the Stadium last Friday night there was a dual college boxing meet on the same program, so about half a dozen boys, with their parents, after seeing the basketball game, had to leave when the boxing started. And if they hadn't left, the commission probably would have been called to task about it.

Phillip K. Wrigley

THOUGH AT 36 he is the youngest club owner in the major baseball league, Philip K. Wrigley, now holder of more than 90 per cent of the Cub stock, is not new to big business. Before reaching 30 he was vice president of a bank, a director in two others, prominent in the activities of several large mercantile establishments and then was made head of the Wrigley chewing gum company.

Wrigley announces that the immediate future of the Los Angeles club, like that of the Cubs, will not be affected by his father's death. The son will carry on with both clubs. The Los Angeles ball park is more elaborate than some of the big league institutions. It cost $1,500,000, and most, if not all of that sum, was charged against other Wrigley interests in Southern California so that the club would not be compelled to shoulder such an enormous debt.

DR. CARLSON, Pitt coach, contends that in basketball it is the defensive team, refusing to come out, that is guilty of stalling. Caddy Works, U. C. L. A. coach, taking the witness stand in the coast rumpus, declares that the offensive team alone can be held responsible.

"This objectionable stalling is brought about only when the offensive players withhold the ball from play," he says. "an action for which they and they alone are responsible. Spectators are entitled to action and it is the fault of the offensive team if they don't get it."

TO ENABLE THE scholastic players of the district to get an eyeful of professional basketball, Promoter Johnny Freund says he is going to make a special concession to high school coaches and their teams in connection with the pro game between the Rosenblum Celtics and Brooklyn Visitations at Motor Square Garden one week from Friday night. He requests a telephone call for the making of arrangements. Incidentally, Freund has booked the Rosies for another game in this section. They will play at Scott High School in North Braddock on Saturday night, February 13, against a team to be selected by Johnny Reed.

FORMER NOTRE DAME football players, after playing a game against a professional team in Los Angeles, give the decision to the pro game without argument. They say a good pro team is so markedly superior to a good college team that it could chase the latter out of the stadium.

Among those subscribing to this opinion were Marty Brill and Tim Moynihan. They say the college team invariably has one or two weak spots. The pro team has none. All the players have had their allotted college careers, plus the experience gained as pro performers.

SONJA HENIE, world figure skating champion, is said to have given a display of unsuspected temperament at Lake Placid, freezing and snubbing the exclusive club there, a smattering of well-meaning admirers and even the press.

According to reports Sonja pronounced the quarters allotted to her at the club unsatisfactory, departed petulantly and searched two hours before finding a place that met with her approval. She declared she did not want to meet any one and would see no newspaper men until 5 o'clock in the evening. A correspondent reports that the usually meticulous press did not make an investigation as to what evening Sonja meant.

Andy Bellemer

NOT ONLY IS the injury jinx persistently holding back the Pittsburgh club, but the task of getting out of last place in the International League has been rendered all the more difficult by the fact that Cleveland, the team just ahead of Pittsburgh, has taken on new strength. Andy Bellemer, Windsor's hard-checking defense man for six seasons, has been signed to a contract [illegible] and Teddy Saunders, Springfield right wing, [illegible] to Cleveland's forces. The Indians are bolstered in front by these deals and the Jackets' chances of pulling ahead of them before the finish have been materially reduced.

Sonny Boy Baxter

WINDSOR, Ontario, Feb. 2.—Gordon (Sonny Boy) Baxter, of the Cleveland Indians, will be in the nets for Pittsburgh when the Yellow Jackets meet the Windsor bulldogs in an International Hockey League game here tonight.

Roy Hinsperger, relief defense and forward of Windsor, has been sold to Providence, of the Canadian-American League. Manager Herb Mitchell, of Windsor, announced.

LOCALS DOWNCAST

Coach Reid is negotiating with the Buffalo Bisons for a winger man. Reid, who has loaned Art Berlett to the Bisons for the rest of the season, would like to obtain an unnamed forward. Berlett has left to join Buffalo.

The Jackets appeared to be somewhat downcast at the loss of Cox, and Windsor's chances of winning tonight are regarded as being greatly enhanced. In their last start the locals snapped a losing streak by blanking London, 4-0, and they figure to take the measure of the crippled Pittsburghers. The two teams are to resume hostilities in Pittsburgh Thursday night.

JACKETS GET GROSVENOR

Coach Charley Reid, in a telegram to the offices of the Pittsburgh Hockey Club today, announced that Eddie Rodden had been traded to the Bronx Tigers, of the Canadian-American League for Len Grosvenor, sturdy puckman who was loaned to the Bronx outfit by the Ottawa National League team. Grosvenor performs at either left defense or left wing, and Reid did not indicate at which position his new star would be stationed when he appears here.

Rodden is a center whose work this season was far below his 1930-31 form. He has been on the bench for the last several games.

Grosvenor will make his debut in a Pittsburgh uniform when Windsor comes here Thursday night. When it was decided not to operate the Ottawa franchise this season he was loaned to the New York Americans, who, in turn, loaned him to the Bronx team.

FAVORABLE REPORT ON COX

DETROIT, Feb. 2.—Fear that the hockey career of Abbie Cox, brilliant little goalie of the Pittsburgh International Hockey League team, was ended were dispelled today when it was found that the Yellow Jacket star's only serious injury was a concussion of the lower vertebrae.

Cox was rushed to the Providence Hospital here when he was injured in the third period of the Pittsburgh-Detroit game here Sunday night. At first it was feared that his pelvis fractured

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY: A BOOK ENTITLED "NOTHING"—A book entitled "Nihil-Rien" (Nothing), by Gabriel d'Estrennes, a French poet, sold for 100 francs each and found willing buyers, although the book contained only 100 blank pages (1893).

The author, who was annoyed by the public's reluctance to pay cash for good poetry, thereby won a wager with a friend, vindicating his unflattering opinion of the public's credulity. THE BIRD OF FREEDOM—In the old Aztec days the Quetzal was considered the symbol of Quetzalcoatl, the God of the Sun. Its feathers were utilized to adorn the Mexican idols, flags and the robes of the Aztec priests and emperors. It was regarded with great veneration and was adopted as the symbolic bird of modern Guatemala, as the liberty bird which dies in captivity. 289 BLOOD TRANSFUSIONS—Spike Haward, Philadelphia strong man, has given more than 144 quarts of his blood in 289 transfusions for the sake of charity. He was noted for his great strength. In one day, March 17, 1930, he gave three blood transfusions and afterward pulled a nine-ton bus with his teeth at Bridgeton, N. J.

JACKETS MAY SIGN HOGAN

Ralph (Buzz) Hogan, Carnegie Tech basketball coach, may be the next head grid coach at Waynesburg College, according to late reports. It is said that only a favorable vote of the board of trustees at Waynesburg remains between him and the berth. He only has a one-year contract at the Skibo institution.

If he is kept here as Tech basketball tutor, and also signs as grid mentor for the Yellow Jackets, he will be the center of the most unusual coaching situation ever known in this section.

Frank Wolf, athletic director-elect and present coach, says Hogan's signing almost is a certainty. Wolf, who also is to be assistant grid tutor, will retain his job as head floor coach at Waynesburg. Hogan is negotiating with full permission of his superiors at Carnegie Tech.

Gundlefinger Out Of Champions Event

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., Feb. 2.—W. T. Gundlefinger, of Pittsburgh, failed to qualify for match play for the national amateur championship of golf club champions over St. Augustine links yesterday. He recorded 91.

T. Philip Perkins, former British amateur champion, tied for the medal with Jack Toomer, Jacksonville. Each carded a 70.

SCHAEFER RALLY TOO LATE

CHICAGO, Feb. 2.—(AP)—Too late to do him any good in the battle for the three-cushion billiard championship of the world, Young Jake Schaefer, of San Francisco, regained his form playing sensationally to defeat Allen Hall, of Chicago, yesterday. The balkline wizard finally broke through to win, 50 to 46, in 59 innings.

A 50-to-48 victory for Jay Bozeman, of Vallejo, Cal., was registered over Tiff Denton, Kansas City veteran, in 67 innings.

Johnny Layton, Sedalia, Mo., veteran, just about ruined Arthur Thurnblad's chance of retaining the title, by defeating the Chicagoan, 50 to 40, in 74 innings.

Pitcher Donohue Latest Holdout Of Red Sox

FORT WORTH, Tex., Feb. 2.—(AP)—Pete Donohue, veteran righthand pitcher, has announced he has returned an unsigned contract to the Boston Red Sox.

"They offered me an increase over my 1931 salary with Kansas City, but I did not feel that it was enough," said Donohue. "I feel certain that I'll be able to reach terms with them."

By JESS CARVER

The varsity tossers of Pitt and Carnegie Tech clash tonight in the second of their annual two-game series in the Tartan gymnasium, the contest topping the evening's four-game college basketball card for this district.

Don Smith

Two weeks ago, in the Stadium Pavilion, the Panthers served the Tartans a decisive setback, capturing their fourteenth consecutive victory over the Plaid. The result of the contest came as a surprise, as the Tartans entered the game favorites. Dr. Red Carlson's team unleashed a terrific first-half attack that brought a 26-6 advantage at the intermission and was able to coast through the second half.

Carnegie, after a fine start, has been in a slump for the past five games. Grove City, Pitt, Duquesne and Geneva have taken the Skibos in recent starts, the Dukes pounding them last Saturday night. Coach Hogan has had both his attack and defense jammed at the same time, which has been very embarrassing to the Plaid cause.

TEAM MUST BRACE

Unless the team takes a decided brace tonight, the Panthers loom as being ready to repeat their victory of two weeks ago. Against West Virginia last Friday, the second team demonstrated enough power to hold a lead over the Mountaineer varsity at half time and the regulars rang up a fine advantage in the second period.

Coach Carlson plans to use his regulars at the start against Tech and will give Johnny Brown, who led the parade in the first tussle with the Skibos, another shot at the center job. Timmy Lawry and Doc Kowallis and Don Smith and probably Charley Hughes will complete the lineup. Smith played bang-up ball against West Virginia, apparently being back in form once again.

FRESHMEN IN PRELIM

It may be that Hogan will go back to using Jagnow at center in place of Ed Stentz, sending Silverman in at Lou's forward spot, paired with Bob Smith. The guard jobs will be handled by Capt. Leonard and Red Fergus.

The freshmen teams will match abilities again in the preliminary, scheduled to get under way at 7 o'clock. The probable lineup:

Carnegie		Pitt
Silverman	F	(C) W. Kowallis
Smith	F	(C) Lawry
Jagnow	C	Brown
Fergus	G	Smith
Leonard (C)	G	McCamant
Referee—Bill Daniel.		Umpire—Sam Hahn.

The Duquesne squad leaves for New York from the P. R. R. station at 9:30 tonight. The Dukes will play four games in the East, beginning tomorrow night, when they encounter St. John's College in Brooklyn.

A. L. SCHEDULE IS APPROVED

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—(AP)—American League officials, meeting here yesterday, adopted the playing schedule drawn up by Presidents William Harridge, of the American League, and John A. Heydler, of the National League, a month ago, and generally cleared decks for the 1932 campaign.

The playing season will open April 12 and close September 25.

The league adopted a resolution of regret at the death of William Wrigley, Jr., owner of the Chicago Cubs, which occurred at Phoenix, Ariz., last week. There were similar resolutions for Alfred Austrian, vice president of the Chicago White Sox, and George W. Miller, attorney for the American League, both of whom died since the last meeting.

The league decided a rigid enforcement of its rule prohibiting conversation between players and spectators, and again expressed its opposition to so-called "synthetic" double-headers.

Only 10 umpires will be signed to contracts this year, compared to 12 previously carried by the league.

OVERSEAS SOCCER

LONDON, Feb. 2.—(AP)—West Ham United and Huddersfield Town played a 1-all draw in an English League First Division soccer match at Upton Park yesterday. In replayed matches from the fourth round of English Football Association Cup competition, New Castle United defeated Southport at Sheffield, by 9 goals to 0 and Stoke City eliminated Sunderland by 2 goals to 1, at Manchester.

DREYFUSS IMPROVES

Barney Dreyfuss, president of the Pittsburgh Pirates, who is recovering from an operation in the Mt. Sinai Hospital, New York City, was showing steady improvement, according to word received today by Pirate officials at the local baseball office.

BELMONT, BASS IN RETURN BATTLE TONIGHT

TONIGHT'S FIGHTS

Jimmy Belmont vs. Sylvan Bass, 10 rounds; Joey Raymond vs. Tiger Joe Randall, 8 rounds, and Sailor Matty vs. Billy Brent and Sammy Paris vs. Johnny Warner, 6 rounds each, Motor Square Garden.

Eddie Cool vs. Eddie Reed, 10 rounds, Reading, Pa.

By HARRY KECK
Sports Editor

Jimmy Belmont, of Braddock, who was our leading welterweight boxer until Ted Yarosz came along and proved he wasn't, on Christmas afternoon, makes his first start since that occasion in the 10-round main bout at Motor Square Garden tonight, when he tangles in a return bout with Sylvan Bass, of Baltimore. The pair boxed in the same ring last season, with Bass having to retire in the second round because of a badly cut eye, which necessitated a long layoff.

Jimmy Belmont

Bass contended the wound was the result of a butt, while Belmont claims he opened the cut with a punch. The fact remains that Sylvan looked very, very good up to the time he became the victim of a technical knockout.

RAYMOND VS. RANDALL

Another Baltimorean, Joey Raymond, stablemate of Bass and nephew of Joe and Vince Dundee, appears in the eight-round semi-final against Tiger Joe Randall, of Elizabeth. Raymond is one of three fighting brothers, all of them good ringmen. The others are Phil and Charley.

Sailor Matty, of Homestead, and formerly of Shenadoah, Pa., boxes Billy Brent, Negro middleweight, of the Hill, in the second bout, and Sammy Paris and Johnny Warner are in the opener.

Grapplers Set To Return to Garden

If present plans materialize, wrestling will return to Motor Square Garden within a very few weeks, with Charley Reinecke, former local matman and in recent years coach and referee of the sport, fronting as the promoter for Frishman and Fried, of the Philadelphia Arena, it was learned today.

Frishman and Fried have been negotiating for some time to break in here, being willing to take a chance after the flopping done by Arthur Sharkey and Ray Fabiani at the Garden and Hickey Park last summer, following which it was announced that all bouts in the state would have to be advertised as exhibitions by order of the boxing commission.

It is understood the Garden management is not in favor of renting out wrestling as a concession because it might injure the boxing receipts in time and would like itself to operate what wrestling is done in the building, making matches independently, the same as it selects the men for its boxing shows, but the grappling cliques do not operate that way, and, if Frishman and Fried come in, it will be with complete cards arranged from the headquarters of one of the wrestling combines.

Between Rounds

Promoter Apples Meyers has his card complete for his Moose Temple show tomorrow night with the signing of Jimmy Vaughn, of St. Michael, Pa., to box Max Elling in the six-round opener. Two 10-rounders top the bill, with Guy Salerno, Jack Perry's highly-touted middleweight from California, meeting Jocko Walters, Springfield (O.) Negro, in the main event, and Charley Baxter, McKees Rocks lightweight, opposing Eddie Brannon, Negro lightweight, of the Hill, in the other headliner. Anson Green, of Homestead, and Carl Mondehaus, of Braddock, are in the second number.

Davy Grove, North side welterweight, has been matched for two semi-final bouts. He meets Billy Holt, of Homewood, in the eight-round prelude to the Billy Jones-George Pavlick bout at Eddie Kaplan's new arena in Center avenue on Friday night, and, on Wednesday of next week, he goes against Roger Brooks of Cleveland, for Apples Meyers at the Moose Temple. Holt is the only boxer to score a win over Grove since the latter came here from Ohio.

Billy Wallace boxes Eddie (Kid) Wolfe in the eight-round semi-final to the Jack Dempsey-K. O. Christner exhibition at Cleveland, Thursday night of next week. Adolph Heuser meets George Manley in another eight-spel. Jimmy Vaughn and Johnny Mitchell box the six-round main bout of a show in Cleveland Friday night of this week. Chet Smallwood and Don McLeod are in the semi-final.

Eddie Cool boxes Buster Brown in the windup at the Camera Club in Philadelphia, Friday night and Sammy Dorfman in the semi-final to the Johnny Jadick-Harry Dublinsky non-title bout at the Philadelphia Arena next Monday.

A Lew Massey-Tony Canzoneri non-title match is in the making for Philadelphia one week from next Monday. Nick Venuto and Gene Buffalo box in Philadelphia Thursday night.

Jackie Wilson, former local middleweight, boxes Enzo Fiermonte in an eight-round preliminary to the Paulino Uzcudun-Ernie Schaaf bout in Madison Square Garden, New York, Friday night. Eddie Benson and Giacomo Bergomas are in the 10-round semi-final and Paul Cavalier and Andy Mitchell in another eight-rounder.

The Cleveland Golden Gloves amateur boxing tournament is scheduled for March 1 and 2 and 7 and 8. Chicago's annual Golden Gloves final is scheduled for March 9 in the Stadium.

Ray Eberle, who will announce the Moose Temple boxing shows, also is continuing as the promoter of amateur cards in Croatian Hall, Ambridge. His next show is billed for next Monday night.

JUNIOR BOXERS WIN CROWNS

The Junior A. M. A.-A. A. U. boxing championship tourney was concluded in the Keystone Athletic Club last night, with leaders being crowned in eight classes. Two knockouts were registered in the final bouts, in the heavyweight division, when William Klaus, of the Pittsburgh Lyceum, stopped Nick Lazor, of Burke A. It's big NEWS even in this brilliant year of automobile sensations

IF YOU have looked over the new motor cars offered for 1932 you know that never before has the automobile dollar bought so much beauty and comfort and performance.

If you have listened to explanation of the new-model features you know too that safety and silence keynote 1932 automotive engineering.

Because millions of dollars have been invested in developing higher speed, more powerful engines, stronger frames, simpler controls, better brakes — sure, safe traction in tires is more than ever desirable.

Because other millions have been invested in perfecting sound-proofed bodies, balanced and cushioned engines, silenced carburetors, quiet gears — silence now assumes additional importance in tires as well.

Goodyear Offers the First Silent Non-Skid Tire

It is easy to quiet a tire by putting "sled-runner" ribs in the center of the tread, so that it runs on continuous tracks of rubber — but that tire lacks the power to grip and hold when brakes say "STOP."

On the other hand, a tread with husky blocks of rubber in the center to grip the road is likely to "drum" when it whirls against smooth highways.

Automobile makers have long wanted both safety and silence — hence their heartfelt welcome of the new Goodyear Silent All-Weather, which they call "the smartest piece of tire engineering in years."

This remarkable tire — the first Silent Non-Skid — preserves all the traction in the center of the famed All-Weather Tread — yet blanks out all the noise — by such a skilful adjustment of design that only a keen eye can discover the difference.

If you want to know how soothingly silent — how luxuriously smooth — how completely safe the 1932 motor car can be, just take the wheel of any one of the Goodyear-shod new models awaiting your pleasure in the showrooms!

Safety with Silence

Non-skid treads are vital to safety, and the new Goodyear Silent All-Weather gives you that safety, yet ends all noise and vibration by the shifting of a fraction of an inch of rubber in the husky blocks of the design, so that blocks of the same size never follow each other. The result is the quietest, smoothest-running non-skid tread that ever gripped a highway

SCHOOLS BATTLE

W. P. I. A. L. TEAMS FIGHT FOR LEAD

By JULIUS LEVIN

With the City League quintets enjoying a well-earned day of rest, all attention in the scholastic basketball realm will be focused on the outcome of some important tussles within the ranks of the Western Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic League tonight.

The City League remains idle until Friday afternoon when league warfare will be resumed on all battlefronts in both sections of the circuit. Judging from the terrific contests that have marked the Section I frays so far this season the City League deserves this brief breathing spell.

TILT FOR TOP BERTH

Topping an attractive list of W. P. I. A. L. tilts is the battle for first place in Section IV between Rusty Lomond's Midland combine and Nate Lippa's Aliquippa passers. The two teams are tied for first place with four victories and one defeat.

Midland is reported to have the best-coached team in the Beaver valley this season, but the Lomond charges will have their hands full in engaging Aliquippa.

Carl Glock's New Kensington High machine, undefeated in five straight league games, is not expected to encounter much trouble in its battle with Springdale.

Two high-class attractions are offered the followers of Section VII. Dick Tolline takes his Munhall aggregation to Duquesne to meet Ray Henry's scrappers while Homestead coached by Bill Campbell will be out to increase its winning streak to five in a row by engaging McKeesport in the Tube City.

CARNEGIE VS. MT. LEBANON

Carnegie will attempt to stop the winning streak of Henry Leucht's Mt. Lebanon quintet in a Section IX contest at Carnegie. Mt. Lebanon, the surprise of the league, has scored six successive triumphs.

Coach Phil Berry's Washington passers, leaders in Section XV with five straight victories, faces a natural rival in Canonsburg. Canonsburg, resting in second place, looms as a real test for the Blue and Black institution made famous by the gridiron exploits of Coach Leroy P. Day.

NO DEFENSE RULES CHANGES

TORONTO, Ontario, Feb. 2.—(AP.)—The National Hockey League meeting here in executive session has decided there would be no change in the playing rules to penalize defensive tactics. It was decided the league would consider, on its merits, each application for reinstatement presented by players who joined the American Hockey League, prior to its break-away from the National League two years ago.

Players who have moved from amateur ranks or jumped from organized pro hockey to the A. H. L. are not included in the scope of the new ruling.

PIN TOURNEY DATES SET AT CONFAB

The second annual duckpin tournament of the Greater Pittsburgh Bowling Alley Owners' Association will get under way April 2 on the Elba Alleys, 319 Fifth avenue, and continue through April 16. This all was decided at yesterday's meeting of the association at which time the site was drawn and the dates agreed upon.

Ray Garber, owner of the Elba Alleys, was appointed chairman of the tournament committee and will be assisted by Pete Furman, Hillery Wertz, H. E. Himes and John Millus. The Saumer-Wilhelm Company was awarded the contract for the pins.

Last year's tourney, rated one of the most successful duckpin events ever held, was run off on the Haus Alleys on the North Side. More than $2,400 was awarded in prize money. This year 10 per cent of the entry fees will be paid out in the form of prizes.

A local baking company will bowl the merchants of McKeesport in the Capitol Alleys, McKeesport, tonight. The loser will donate 50 loaves of bread to the needy.

TWO BOB SLEDS IN ACCIDENTS

LAKE PLACID, N. Y., Feb. 2.—Peace has settled over the gaunt mile-and-a-half stretch of ice that winds down the precipitous slope of Mt. Van Hoevenberg, where the bob sled runners of eight nations have been battling each other in between efforts to ward off sudden death before the start of the winter Olympics Thursday.

The slide has been taken out of the control of local officials and put in absolute charge of Albert Meyer, of Switzerland, and Erwin Hachman, of Germany, both members of the International bob sleigh committee.

It was agreed the slide would be slowed up by covering the glare ice service with snow.

A strange bit of luck saved Reto Capadrutt, 20-year-old Swiss collegian, and his crew from sudden death. His front axle broke while he was shooting into Whiteface, an almost perpendicular wall of curved ice, at about 70 miles an hour, but the broken parts jammed into the sled in such a way that he was still able to steer his way to the bottom in safety.

An Australian boblet, or two-man sled, turned over in Shady Corner, and Hugo Weinstengel, the pilot, was bruised and battered as he bobbed around in the ice chute.

An unfortunate accident yesterday deprived figure skating fans of watching what was anticipated to be the greatest fancy skating duel in years. Gillis Grafstrom, of Sweden, hurt his knee and will probably be out of the competition. He is the holder of two Olympic titles and was picked to fight it out with Carol Schaefer, of Austria, the present holder of the world championship.

Smith Tops National Ice League Scorers

MONTREAL, Que., Feb. 2.—(AP.)—Reginald J. (Hooley) Smith, of the Montreal Maroons, has regained the lead in the National Hockey League's individual scoring race.

Figures for games up to and including those of Sunday credit Smith with 32 points, one more than Bill Cook of the New York Rangers and Harvey Jackson, of Toronto. Charley Conacher, of Toronto, is fourth with 30 points and Joe Primeau, also of Toronto, fifth with 29.

STOCK MARKET DRIFTS OFF QUIETLY

Bullish Vaporings of War Boom Disappear and List Losses Replace Gains

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—(AP.)—Bullish vaporings of a "war boom," which had been discredited in leading banking quarters from the start, disappeared from the stock market today, and prices drifted quietly lower.

The market was firm for a time in the first hour, but rails soon turned reactionary and a heavy tone spread throughout the list. Early gains of from fractions to several points were replaced by losses of 1 to 4 or more. Trading, however, was dull.

Rails lost most of the upturn of the previous session. Santa Fe declined more than 4. Union Pacific 3, and issues off a point or more included Southern Pacific, Pennsylvania, New York Central and others. Coppers turned heavy, as the export price was cut. Miscellaneous issues off a point or so included United States Steel, du Pont, Allied Chemical, General Electric, United Aircraft, American Can, Case, American Smelting, Cerro de Pasco, Westinghouse and others. American Telephone lost 2. Marshall Field sagged a point on omission of the dividend. The only notable bullish effort in so-called "war stocks" appeared in New York Shipbuilding, which rose more than a point to above 6.

Heaviness of the rails, which cancelled much of the upturn which greeted the 10 per cent wage cut agreement, reflected the opinion in several quarters that while the railroads' position has been greatly strengthened, prosperous times must await a revival of freight movement. Some further paring down of dividends is expected.

A sagging tendency in commodities had an adverse influence on the share market. Export copper was quoted at 6⅞ cents a pound, which is the first time it has been available under the 7-cent level. Bar silver, which gained ½ cent yesterday, fell back ⅜.

Some important banking quarters regarded the inauguration of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation as distinctly favorable, and felt that gradual return of stability may now be expected.

The consolidated weekly report of reserve member banks in leading cities showed a gain of $59,000,000 in holdings of securities other than United States governments, indicating that banks were again investing in bonds.

TOKIO MARKET IS CLOSED

TOKIO, Feb. 2.—The Tokio Stock Exchange has been closed, due to widespread declines in all classes of securities, attributed to the Shanghai situation and Anglo-American protests against Japan's policy there.

YOKOHAMA, Japan, Feb. 2.—(AP.)—The Yokohama Raw Silk Exchange, principal source of the raw silk supply o' the United States, suspended operations this afternoon as a result of a drop of almost 20 per cent in quotations during the morning session.

American Can to Show Strong Cash Position In 1931 Report

American Can Company manages to maintain strictest secrecy regarding its 1931 earnings statement which should be published around the middle of next month. The last authoritative estimate on revenues was made late in August, 1931, when common earnings of around $6 a share were predicted. However since then there have been reports that the company might set up more than the usual liberal reserves and that the statement will show something around $5.50 a share. The usual strong financial position will be reflected in the balance sheet, with a large proportion of the current assets represented by cash or its equivalent.

That New York Central could be one of the outstanding leaders in any bullish demonstration in the railroad group seems to be the growing belief in the financial district. Quite a few of the professional operators have been giving more time to the stock recently. They purchased while reactions were in progress and accepted profits on the bulge. A few of them, however, have maintained a long position in Central, although they have been short of other issues. They consider Central a good hedge against their short positions.

One of the large commission and wire houses holds the view that investors in public utility securities are uneasy over the proposal to place an internal revenue or sales tax on sales of electric current by public utility companies. It adds that the tax proposed is believed to be large enough to discourage consumption nd make the problem of passing the burden to the consumer a difficult one. Utility stocks have not been able to do much in the market recently and were nearer their lows than the industrials.

While conservative interests continue cautious, there are some in the financial district who believe the market could have a technical rally in the current week if developments which can affect stocks are favorable. They point out that much will depend on the ability of leading stocks to hold on such a recovery. Most observers continue to favor a side-line position.

The speculative fraternity was disposed to look into the railroad picture with a view to figuring what the saving in wages resulting from 10 per cent adjustment agreed upon will mean to the roads individually. Indicated savings average anywhere from about 68 cents a share on Chesapeake and Ohio, to nearly $6 a share on "Cotton Belt" common, based on approximate 1931 results. New York Central stands to benefit to a large extent and Chicago Northwestern is likewise quite favorably affected. The following table shows the indicated saving on a per share basis for various roads:

Road.	A Share
Atchison	$3.72
B. & P.	2.26
C. & P.	.68
Northwest	3.78
D. L. W.	1.72
L. G. N.	4.44

N. Y. Central	4.22
New Haven	2.80
Northern Pacific	1.38
Pennsylvania	2.86
St. Louis South Western	.98
Southern Pacific	2.94
Union Pacific	3.32

Though the report for 1931 showing a consolidated net loss of $8,712,023 after charges and inventory adjustment, compared with net profit of $425,211 in 1930 could hardly have been viewed as satisfying, there were other features in the Montgomery Ward picture which made a favorable impression in financial circles. The company apparently determined to wash its slate clean and make a new start from "scratch." At any rate it proceeded to make heavy charges against surplus in writing off such things as pre-opening expenses of retail stores and mail order plants, surplus equipment, leases, etc., in the amount of $10,600,000. The net result left accumulated earned surplus at $14,514,832 on December 31, last, compared with $35,254,424 at the end of 1931.

PUBLIC DEBTS MOUNTING

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—(INS)—Uncle Sam's public debt today was $1,963,000,000 greater than a year ago with total outstanding obligations of $18,126,861,609.

The level was boosted $311,000,000 yesterday by issues of certificates to meet the initial financial requirements of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

From $500,000,000 to $1,000,000,000 more will be added to the debt before June 3, because of the reconstruction program and the excess of general government costs over receipts.

COPPER PRICE REDUCED

LONDON, Feb. 2.—Copper Exporters, Inc., has reduced the price of copper ¼ cent a pound to 6⅞ cents c.i.f. Hamburg, London and Havre.

The new price on foreign copper applies to both producers and custom smelters and is the lowest price at which copper has ever sold abroad. Buying is small.

BOSTON, Feb. 2.—General Cable Corporation has reduced the price of bare copper wire in carload lots ¾ cent a pound to 8½ cents. Weatherproof wire is quoted 10⅛ cents a pound.

Sears, Roebuck Sales Drop 17½ Pct.

CHICAGO, Feb. 2.—Sears Roebuck & Co. sales for four weeks ended January 29, amounted to $19,068,449, compared with $23,042,271 in the like 1931 period, a decrease of 17½ per cent.

Police Chief Gets Warning From Gang After His Son Is Kidnaped

CHAPTER XXIII.

Corp. Michael Fitzpatrick could hardly wait until Saturday morning to strut before his youthful companions in his bright new uniform. Breakfast was hardly over before he gathered up his night stick, put his cap on at an asquint slant and sauntered forth. His father had not been home all night, so he missed the morning ritual of a bear-hug and an admonition to be a good boy.

He paused on the doorstep, swung his stick and began to whistle. It was 9 o'clock and no school. All the other little boys in the neighborhood would be out. But he saw none of them, and furthermore he did not see Big Monty Monahan the cop on the corner. He was the one he wanted to impress more than anyone else. Who was Monaghan anyway? Just an ordinary flat-foot. And who was he?—Corp. Michael Fitzpatrick.

So he strolled down toward the corner, a brave little figure who might have been a cop in Lilliput, twirling his stick as big as any policeman and imbued with the authority of a corporal. He had gotten midway down the block when a car long, sleek, black, with side curtains up, drew to the curb. Two men, pinch-backed coats and derbies set at the same angle, jumped out.

"Hello!" exclaimed Mickey proudly.

"Your dad—you know, the Chief—told us to pick you up. We're goin' on a raid," said the second.

"Whatcha goin' t'raid" asked Mickey, striking a pose, one hand behind his coat-tails, the other swinging his rosewood.

"S-a-a-y!" exclaimed Mickey, drawing back. "Where's yer badge—are you dicks?"

Both threw back their coat lapels and displayed badges, which they quickly covered. Mickey looked at them admiringly. But he would not be manhandled like this. He drew back.

"Take yer hands off'n me," he said, with dignity. "I'll get in—where's my dad?"

"He's at the place we're goin' to raid," said one of the dapper young men. "Hurry up."

"Make it snappy—we ain't got much time," seconded the other.

Mickey looked around to see whether anyone had witnessed this recognition of his authority. But he saw no one. He climbed into the car. The two young fellows with derbies got in behind him. The door slammed. The chauffeur, half looking back, muttered an "Okay," and the car shot forward.

"Hit it up, Mike!" cried one of the men, above the roar of the engine.

"Where're we goin'?" demanded Mickey, leaning back comfortably.

"You'd be surprised, copper!" said the second gunman.

Mickey looked at him a second, and then sensing the evil look in his eye, drew back his club.

A big hand closed over his mouth, not that Mickey would have screamed, for Mickey fought his battles silently. But the big hand closed off his wind, and he could not breathe, and the car had not gone 10 blocks before the little fellow sank back with a sigh.

* * *

In a cigar store down on the river front, where the fog almost obscured the entrance and where it bellowed in when the door was open, a solitary figure entered. The man, his cap down on his forehead, his head lowered in his coat collar, walked up to the counter.

"Gimme a package o' cigarets," he said in muffled tones.

"Gotta a telephone here?" he asked.

"Sure—right over there," indicated the woman. The man sorted out a nickel and shuffled toward the booth. The woman narrowly watched him.

The woman began to arrange some things on the counter near the phone booth, straining her ears to catch the conversation, on the alert—because she was suspicious—habitually—and curious—constitutionally.

Howard two-thousand," said the man in one of those voices which cannot be heard beyond the receiver. Then, "Chief Fitzpatrick." There was a click and the man continued, "Is this Chief Fitzpatrick? . . . Yes, yes . . . I want to talk to the chief . . . it's about his son . . ."

There was a long pause. The man began to get nervous, started once to hang up the telephone, but held on. "Yes . . . Is this Chief Fitzpatrick talkin'," his voice was hoarse. "Well, I'm speakin' for the guys what's got your son . . . Yes, yes . . . he's okay . . . now . . . When you lay off he'll be brought back safe . . . Belmonte? Never heard of him . . . You got the wrong guys this time . . . Lay off . . . Get me——"

He slammed up the receiver and walked out. The woman looked up quickly, but the man merely nodded, his chin still in his coat collar, and walked out. She watched the door close, waited a moment and then went back to her cabbage, which she was preparing for supper. She had not been at her task more than 10 minutes before two big, well-dressed men entered.

ALL IN A DAY

By MARK HELLINGER

He's a Dreamer—Aren't We All?

I RECEIVED a letter yesterday from an inmate of the State Prison at Trenton, N. J. He will be there for many, many years. Let me quote you just one paragraph:

"You know, Mark, I'm one of the star License Plate makers of the State of New Jersey. We're going to work on the 1933 tags in a day or so. Black, with red numerals, will be the color combination. I'd like to follow the road of one of the sets of plates. I don't mean to go with it—but just to keep a record of every place it went. To know the people who ride in the car. To hear of their lives and loves. Quite a dreamer for a guy with a long, long sentence—am I not, Mark?"

I sort of like that dream, Charlie. And if you don't mind, I'm going to follow it up. We'll have the license plate talk in the first person. Something like this . . .

I'm just an ordinary license plate. Nothing high-hat or unusual about me. Why should there be? I haven't a low number on me, and I was manufactured in a prison. What right have I got to be a big shot?

I was kind of sorry to leave that prison. The guy that finally completed me was a good scout. I liked the way he handled me when he finally let me go. He did it almost tenderly, as though he wanted to go with me. Guess he did, too. He must have been thinking of the open road, and I imagine that means a lot when you can't have it.

Well, I can't afford to grow sentimental. A license plate isn't supposed to have much feeling, and this would be a rotten story if I started to cry. So I'll just tell you that I was shipped in as one of a big batch. I was on a shelf for a long time. And then, one cold morning, a chauffeur came around to get me.

Right off the bat, I didn't like that guy. He was too snooty. He yanked me from the package, looked at me in evident disappointment and then shoved me back again. I heard him tell the clerk that his boss had plenty of dough and that he expected a lower number. And I heard the clerk say he was sorry, but that was the best he could do. So the chauffeur took me.

Well, I've got a surprise for you. On what kind of a car do you think I landed that very night? A Rolls Royce! Yes, sir—and a beautiful thing it was, too. Dark blue, and with the trimmest lines you'd ever want to gaze upon. I hadn't seen my owner yet, but I knew we were out on a big estate in Northern New Jersey.

Next to me in the garage was another license. It was on a battered flivver that had evidently seen much better days.

"Been here long?" I asked it affably.

"Can't you read my number?" was the answering growl. "I'm a '32 plate. You're '33. I'll be in the junk heap soon, and I can't say that I'm particularly sorry."

I tried a new angle.

"How's my boss going to be?" I queried. "I mean, what kind of a guy is he?"

"You'll find out," was the uncommunicative response. "And stop talking your fool head off."

Well, it's a funny thing how quickly you learn about people. I wasn't hanging on the back of that Rolls more than a week when I understood my owner as well as he understood himself. And I didn't feel any too good about it.

My boss was a fussy little man. About 50, I should say, and very oily. I overheard the chauffeur telling another man about him as we stood in front of a theater one night. Both men had been drinking quite a few beers and I imagine the chauffeur must have been drunk. Otherwise, he certainly wouldn't have talked so much.

"If you must know," he asserted, "that boss of mine is pretty much of a louse. Oh, he treats me all right. I got no kick on that score. I mean he's a louse when it comes to dames.

"He won't stop chasing 'em. He'll take out the youngest and sweetest little kids you ever saw. I'm surprised that some husband or father hasn't knocked him off long before this.

"Ever see his wife? That's right—how could you? She's been away almost two years. Honestly, she was a corker. One of the grandest women you'd ever want to know. But he drove her away with his booze and his other women. She's in a sanitarium up-State and he tells everyone she's suffering from lung trouble. I know different.

"The only dame who can handle him at all is a hard-hearted Hannah who's living in an apartment of his over on Park avenue. Her name's Margie, and she tells him where to get off whenever she feels in the mood. I drive her around myself now and then whenever she wants this car. Margie knows her onions. I—

He stopped abruptly and reached hastily for the door. The owner had stepped from the theater long before the show was over. With him was a little girl who couldn't have been more than 16. And you can believe me when I tell you she was a picture.

At first she didn't want to get in the car. She said something about having to go home. But the boss wouldn't take that for an answer.

"We're riding to my home for just one drink," he insisted. "It's not very far. You know you're safe with me, child. I only want your advice on some business problems. Maybe I'll be able to use you as my personal secretary."

She got in . . .

The next day I saw Margie. That's the blonde the chauffeur had indicated as the only one who could handle my boss. And she could, too. His voice was different when he talked to her. Everything was different.

We drove down to his office and then went back to her home again. That place on Park avenue. We didn't stop at the entrance, though. The chauffeur parked around the corner instead. He opened the door and helped Margie out. She laughed.

"Who does that boss of yours think he's kidding?" I heard her say. "Did you hear him making love to me in the back of that car and telling me I was the only love of his life?"

The chauffeur grinned.

"I heard him," he replied.

Margie stepped back.

"By the time you get upstairs," she said, "I'll have the drinks mixed. Make it snappy."

"Okay, honey," said the chauffeur . . .

I've only been on this job a month. But it's been pretty much the same. The only real excitement we have is when they have to carry my boss out of a cabaret because he's too drunk to walk. He gets crying jags—and he cries for hours about how unhappy he is. That's funny to me, because hundreds of people gather around my car in the course of a day. And they talk about it.

"Isn't that beautiful?" they say. The owner must be a very happy man."

Every day—and sometimes twice a day—I get washed and polished. I guess I must look spotless. But I don't know. It's funny how much cleaner I felt in the hands of that convict who wanted so much to go with me. . . .

SUN-TELEGRAPH-WARNER THEATERS -:- Junior Komic Club

The Sun Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club has chapters in many out of town sections. Perhaps the most thriving are the chapters located at the Grand, Greensburg; Prince, Ambridge; State, Washington and Memorial, McKeesport.

The Greensburg chapter meets at the Grand Theater because it is the home of the western pictures. The meeting Saturday was opened with the usual patriotic exercises. Chorus singing followed. Bizz Ritchey played a number on the kazoo. John McCann and Warren Laufe did some fast stepping; Ralph Pallacker sang a solo and three little girls harmonized. Tom Ficco contributed several comedy numbers. Prizes were awarded to William Peters and Betty Brown.

MEMORIAL, McKEESPORT

The Prince, Ambridge, had a novel entertainment at Saturday's meeting. One of the big features was a Tom Thumb wedding in which Anna Marie Messner was the bride; Jimmy Brown, the groom; Jimmy Llewellyn, the minister, and Johnny Llewellyn, the ring bearer. Myrna Heberling again acted as master of ceremonies. The numbers included a song by Anna Marie Messner, song and dance by Ellen Llewellyn, acrobatic dance by Marie Simon and Jane Smith, song by Myrna Heberling, tap dance by the Estep sisters and a song by Jimmy Brown.

Prizes in the singing contest were awarded to Steve Nestic and Hattie Dobransky.

Manager Anderson announced a Valentine contest for the next meeting.

The report of the State (Washington) Chapter will be given at a later date.

THE BUNGLE FAMILY

YES SIR, IT SIMPLY STUNS ME EVERY TIME I REMEMBER WE'RE LIVING NEXTDOOR TO FOLKS WHOSE CONVERSATION MAKES YOU THINK THEY'RE GARGLING SOME SYRUPY MEDICINE.
THEY'RE DANGEROUS IN A WAY, IN CASE OF FIRE HE'D PROBABLY RUN OUT IN THE HALL AND HOLLER SOMETHING THAT WOULD SOUND AS THOUGH HE WAS MERELY TRYING TO GET A FISH-BONE OUT OF HIS THROAT.
IMAGINE! THOSE PEOPLE COULD SAY THINGS ABOUT YOU FROM MORNING UNTIL NIGHT AND YOU WOULDN'T KNOW ANYTHING ABOUT IT.
WHAT AN ADVANTAGE A NEIGHBOR HAS WHO CAN CALL OTHER PEOPLE NAMES IN TWO OR THREE LANGUAGES, MAYBE FOUR!
I'VE GOT SOMETHING TO DO MORE IMPORTANT THAN SKIPPING THROUGH ONE OF THOSE DINKY LITTLE FOREIGN LANGUAGE GUIDE BOOKS EVERY TIME A NEIGHBOR SAYS HELLO.
ANOTHER VIEW OF THE SITUATION IS THAT ALTHOUGH WE'VE NEVER HAD ANY TROUBLE WITH THOSE PEOPLE, WE'RE NOT ON SPEAKING TERMS WITH THEM. GET THAT.
THE MOST IMPORTANT PART OF IT IS THAT I JUST CAN'T HELP THINKING ABOUT SOME OF THE THINGS THAT WOMAN COULD SAY RIGHT TO MY FACE WHILE I SMILED IN APPARENT AGREEMENT WITH HER.
WE'VE MADE A LOT OF SACRIFICES TO GET ALONG WITH NEIGHBORS BUT ASKING US TO LEARN A FOREIGN LANGUAGE IS GOING A STEP TOO FAR.

A Sound Tax Policy

Adoption of Sales Tax System Like That of Canada Will Contribute to Economic Recovery.

Political modification of the course of business is accomplished primarily through the power to tax.

Excessive taxation is foolhardy because it tends to kill the goose that lays the golden egg.

Instead of submitting the country to the waste and misery resulting from tax follies, Congress can learn from the mistakes of Great Britain, whose government has sapped economic vitality through ruinously high tax rates.

The Hearst newspapers at this time of depressed trade and widespread unemployment favor a tax policy which will help to rebuild prosperity, rather than one which will deepen the depression.

The administration plan for higher rates on income and profits taxes would tend to aggravate the vicious cycle of deflation.

Instead of thus adding greatly to the burden on distressed taxpayers at this time, federal credit should be employed as a supplement to tax receipts until normal economic conditions return.

Instead of continuing to concentrate levies on incomes which have diminished through vanishing business profits, taxes should be more equally based on the less variable factor of business transactions.

Instead of seeking to get a larger share of the present shrunken national income for taxes, Congress should be encouraged to HELP TO ENLARGE THE SOCIAL INCOME, out of which taxes can be taken.

And the very threat of excessive taxation, which penalizes initiative and enterprise, tends to retard business recovery.

On the other hand, moderate imposts on sales, and excise taxes on liquor, richly yield public revenue, without discouraging job-creating business enterprise.

The merchants of the country who assemble in New York today under the auspices of the National Retail Dry Goods Association should give heed to the larger economic consequences of tax policies.

If a sound sales tax will contribute to economic recovery, the merchants, like the manufacturers, wholesalers and workers, will benefit.

Consequently the merchants should devote their attention not to opposing a sales tax, but to securing a DESIRABLE sales tax.

Congress has a good model for a sound sales tax in the Canadian system, which has been in operation for more than a decade. We need have no reluctance about copying the Canadian system, particularly in view of the fact that Canada borrowed its plan from the Philippines.

After studying the Canadian system at first hand, Dr. T. S. Adams, Yale economist and our leading authority on taxation, recently reported to the House Ways and Means Committee:

"The Canadian sales tax is a manufacturers' tax. It is imposed at the present time at the rate of 4 per cent on the sale of goods, not exempt, produced or manufactured in Canada or imported into Canada. It is distinctly not a turnover tax; pyramiding is effectively eliminated and the tax does not appear in a direct or visible form in retail sales prices.

"Not only is there no tax on retail sales, but there is no tax on jobbers' or distributors' sales.

"I have no doubt that, if you gentlemen will have your experts write a careful law, giving, in words which will satisfy you, this extraordinary administrative celerity and elasticity, the Canadian law will be absolutely practicable for this country, and would produce huge revenue."

The larger public should recognize that the sales tax is a means of collecting revenue with a minimum of hardship on job-giving commerce and industry.

Its adoption, accompanied by reduction of income and profits taxes, would go far toward heartening depressed businessmen and encouraging them to recall idle workers to their payrolls.

And of course, like other businessmen, merchants would benefit from the adoption of an economically sound tax policy.

Rates Must Come Down

Electric Light and Power Companies Serving Pittsburgh Will Have to Lower Their Charges.

Charles P. Lang, assistant city solicitor in charge of public utilities legislation, declares electric power companies serving the Pittsburgh district are charging too much. As indicating their rates are exorbitant, he points to profits in excess of 10 per cent.

The Public Service Commission of West Virginia has ordered a reduction of from 8 to 22 per cent in the rates charged in certain sections of that state for electric service.

In New York Matthew S. Sloan, president of the New York Edison Company, proposed to reduce rates because the cost of operation had come down.

Why does the Duquesne Light Company not heed these signs of the times and lower its charges to a reasonable level? If it does not soon do so, Council should direct the City Law Department to sue the company for a reduction.

Lang estimates the suit would cost $20,000. The people of Pittsburgh may lose millions of dollars, unjustly, if the suit is not instituted.

Save the Subway

Council Has No Right to Junk the Project Authorized By the Voters to Relieve Traffic Congestion.

There was a sharp tone to the letter sent by the City Transit Commission to Council in protest against the abandonment of the subway project, and the sharpness was justified.

Council, to be sure, did not openly say it was junking the project; but that is the only interpretation that can be placed on its action in shutting off the commission's activities by doing away with the positions filled by its engineers.

The plea that this was done in the interest of economy as an emergency measure is shown to be without merit; for the comparatively small sum asked by the commission—not less than $8,300 nor more than $11,300—would not be taken from this year's taxes, but would come from the proceeds of a bond issue.

Twelve years ago the people voted for a subway to expedite traffic and relieve congestion. The need for the subway is greater now than it was then, and in the absence of a countermanding order from the citizens Council has no right to junk the plan.

LISTEN, WORLD -:-

By Elsie Robinson

"Why do you criticise mothers?" says she. "You say you are a mother yourself. Then don't you know the work and sacrifice that motherhood requires? And don't you realize that mother love is the most beautiful thing on earth?"

No, ma, I don't.

I admit mamma works.

But why shouldn't she? That's her job.

She also sacrifices.

But she has no corner on the act. Taking things by and large, I'll bet the average family sacrifices as much for Poor Dear Mamma as P. D. M. sacrifices for the family.

And while we're on the subject, I should like to know why every act of service performed by a mother is considered a Supreme Sacrifice, whereas, if a female does the same chores down in some office, the world thinks nothing of it?

As for Mother Love—

It is frequently a great and glorious thing. But Mother Love without Horse Sense is a MESS and responsible for more human misery than any other institution on earth.

What is a Good Mother?

Easier to say what she ISN'T.

A good mother ISN'T a woman "who hesn't a thought outside her home and family." For a mother's first and most important duty is to fit her child for existence in the world outside that home. If she, herself, doesn't know that world . . . takes no part in it . . . fears or misinterprets it . . . how can she possibly adjust her child to its conditions? And if she doesn't adjust her child to that world in which he must live, she sends him out tragically handicapped.

Such a mother isn't a good mother, though her love and sacrifice be boundless. She is a BAD MOTHER and there can be no excuse for her in this modern age.

It is not enough to train sister to be a Good Daughter and eventually a Nice Wife. It is not enough to train Junior to be a Good Son and eventually a Fine Husband. It is not enough to give them pleasing domestic habits and attitudes—or refined personal standards. Much more than that is needed to fit Sister and Junior for adult life.

THEY MUST BE TRAINED TO BE COMPETENT CITIZENS AND WELL-BALANCED INDIVIDUALS, AS WELL AS HOUSE-BROKEN, DOMESTIC PETS.

AND HOW CAN A MOTHER TRAIN HER CHILDREN TO BE COMPETENT CITIZENS UNLESS SHE IS A COMPETENT CITIZEN HERSELF?

How can a woman train her children to face reality if she herself has never faced it?

How can she tell them what poverty means. . .what vice means . . .what ignorance means. . if she has never seen the evil fruit of these things?

How can she teach them to understand people. . .the goodness in bad people. . .the badness in good people. . .the cussedness and weakness and cowardice in all people. . unless she, herself, understands people?

"But the average wife has neither time nor opportunity for such broadening experience," you say.

That may have been true in 1832 . . . it is not true in 1932. Every daily newspaper, every radio, every monthly magazine dealing with current affairs sends the whole world marching through the modern mother's door. Even the simplest village Civic Society, P. T. A. Association or Woman's Club can teach her human relations. If, in spite of this, she still insists on "never having a thought outside her family," .HEN SHE HAS NO RIGHT TO HAVE A FAMILY.

It is as criminally careless for a woman to raise children, knowing nothing of life, as it would be for an engineer to build bridges who could not figure stresses and strains and who did not know the tensile strength of materials. One badly trained child is an infinitely greater menace to society than a million badly built bridges.

The Right to Work And Live

By Claude G. Bowers

Author of "The Struggle for Democracy in America," "Founders of the Republic," "Jefferson and Democracy," "The Tragic Era" and other important works, now writing for the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

Congress has been moving rapidly, putting through the mill of legislation the President's program for the relief of banks and railroads, and there certainly is no objection to that. Senator Wagner is now pressing his bill for a prosperity loan of two billions and Senator La Follette his for five billions for the relief of millions of men who are denied the inalienable natural right to work.

When we are through legislating for the dividends, which are important, we may have time for the consideration of men and women without dividends or wages and whose lives are at stake. Also for some consideration of long-delayed legislation in the interest of labor, which is not entirely without significance in the scheme of society as it stands.

The conditions, in so far as employment is concerned, are worse, instead of better. No sane purpose can be served by lying about it. Society has got to face realities, however ugly. The American Federation of Labor now places the number of breadwinners denied the right to earn their bread at 8,300,000.

That is an appalling figure. Not long ago no one estimated more than 7,000,000. There have been reductions in working forces in stores and factories since Christmas. Neither the merchants nor manufacturers can be blamed, for they cannot be expected to employ more people than are required by the demands of trade. And yet every time another thousand joins the army of the unemployed the demand for goods decreases. There will be no return to prosperity until trade is revived; and no trade revival until millions, no longer in the purchasing class, are back on jobs.

What Did the President Mean!

Meanwhile, with the call for relief increasing, the agencies of relief, having no connection with the national government, are being forced to curtail their activities. With more than ever needed, less than ever is to be given. This is as great a tragedy as the plight of the steel corporation.

Thus in New York City the Home Relief Bureau has been forced to suspend the listing of the applications of the jobless, because the relief stations have been swamped with 75,000 registrations. These stations were unable even to list the applicants. It is intended to receive more applications after something has been accomplished for the 75,000 who have registered.

In the case of the Emergency Employment Relief Committee, we have the announcement that the funds are so low it has recently been found necessary to turn down the applications for work of 57,000, all of whom "ought to have work" and need it "desperately." That word "desperately" is an ominous word.

But what is America going to do about it? What did President Hoover mean a year ago when so bravely he said that "no American will be permitted to starve?" Nothing has yet been done by the federal government to prevent it.

Private Charity Has Failed

Private charity has failed—failed utterly. Municipalities have exhausted their resources and, asking loans from the banks, are told they must cut down on expenses. If individual charity and the appropriations of the smaller governmental units cannot keep Americans from starving, where is the prevention if not in some federal action? Thus Mr. Green, of the American Federation of Labor, says:

"With city relief breaking down, and with private charity totally unable to meet the needs of the unemployed, we are now face to face with an unprecedented unemployment crisis. Only one agency can meet the relief problem now that all other resources have proved inadequate—the federal government."

Not long ago Senator Borah declared that if private charity fails, if men of vast means refuse to contribute sufficiently, the government must meet the necessity and get money by taxation that is not contributed voluntarily.

No Time to Experiment With Starvation

Men and women by the million do not intend to starve, nor be thrown from shelter without a protest of a serious nature, sooner or later.

There are just two ways to prevent a crisis of this sort.

One is to go into the Federal Treasury and furnish the money for direct relief, and that would save life, but not in any way help the general situation. It would not make jobs; it would not increase trade materially. It means the dole—so-called.

There is another way—the way proposed by Senators Wagner and La Follette—to float a huge prosperity loan—a war loan in the fight against starvation—to create work for the jobless.

This would not be a burden bearing on the immediate present. And the work done would be constructive and would increase wealth. The nation as a nation would lose nothing. Senator Wagner has shown that in his great speech in the Senate the other day.

Is it to be a dole—or work—or starvation? These are not times for any government to experiment with starvation. Society cannot afford to drive too many men and women to starvation. As Representative Oliver recently said, we have experimented too long with "suicide and soup."

The Norris Anti-Injunction Bill

Meanwhile, while we are legislating in the interest of the banks, the industries, the railroads, Congress will soon have an opportunity to legislate for the workers of America through the Norris anti-injunction bill. This is some generations overdue. In common justice it should have been passed 20 years ago.

For 20 years statesmen with the conservatism of justice and common sense have been urging it. There is a vicious evil today in the case of injunctions in labor disputes. There are two features of the Norris bill that common justice demands. One is the provision for a trial by jury in contempt cases not arising from happenings in the courtroom; the other is that where laboring men in labor disputes are cited for contempt for happenings outside the courtroom they may demand trial by a judge other than the one who cited them.

And there is another feature that is sound—that there shall be no granting of temporary or permanent injunctions until evidence has been heard. That bill should pass.

We are constantly hearing that capital and labor are equally necessary; and they are. Now that we have been legislating with celerity for the benefit of capital, it is time to legislate some for labor. Let's act as though we think they are equally necessary.

Wilson Was Savagely Assailed

It is also proposed that there shall be an investigation of the six-hour day for railway workers; and just now, with a great army of these jobless, it is worth some thought. Always there are men who are shocked at the suggestion of reducing work hours.

When Woodrow Wilson went to Congress with a demand for an eight-hour day he was savagely assailed, and still is bitterly blamed. And yet if there is any type of work that should have its limitation in hours in the interest of public safety it is railroad work.

For society, to justify itself, must find a way to make it possible for men to work.

"The human equation." We have heard much of the necessity of keeping up the price of securities; it is time we hear more of the rights of the workers—their right to work, their right to live.
